Frozen Reservoir Brings Hazard To Up-Island District

The City of Ladysmith, 14 miles south of Nanaimo, was in grave danger today, being without an adequate supply of water.

The city's reservoir froze during the week-end, and members of the City Council issued a warning to the people to conserve what water they have or else face the possibility of having no water at all later in the week.

Mayor Leonard Ryan, in a telephone talk with the Victoria Times, said as much water as possible must be saved and warned of the serious danger of fire breaking out at the time of a water shortage.

Waterworks chairman Ald. Dr. A. T. Vercher suggested all outside taps be shut off immediately. Dr. Vercher described the situation as urgent and said water pressure was very low in most city areas.

Other island centres, including Duncan, had their water supply threatened during the week-end but service this morning was still good.

Skating At Shawnigan

At Shawnigan Lake, residents enjoyed outdoor skating Sunday on Lonsdale Bay in front of the Lonsdale School for Boys. Although ice was reported on other sections of the lake, this was the only part safe for skating according to Provincial Police officer Robert Ross.

At Cowichan Bay, long-time residents were amazed to see a covering of ice stretching right across the bay. No one was found who could remember seeing this before. The ice was cracked and broken with the rise and fall of the tide.

At Duncan the temperature for a brief time this morning dropped close to zero. It had risen sharply before daybreak, however.

Ladysmith Mayor Warns

At Ladysmith, where the reservoir was frozen, Mayor Leonard Ryan expressed fears a big fire at the present time would be calamitous. He appealed to all people in the area to conserve.

"Our reservoir is just about dry," he said this morning. "Our big trouble is that so many people leave their taps running to prevent freeze-up."

"We are asking them to shut their taps off, for they are just draining our system," he continued.

Nanaimo Schools Closed

Nanaimo experienced a snowfall of four inches during the week-end. It was clear and cold this morning with the temperature hovering around 18 degrees. Public schools in the city were closed. Traffic was getting through but there were few cars to be seen on the roads.

At Courtenay, there was only a very light fall of snow during the week-end although outlying areas nearby received as much as 14 inches. Temperature this morning was 15 degrees.

Lewis Park and Minto Schools were closed for the day.

Ocean Storm May Bring Better Weather To City

The weatherman today issued his first optimistic announcement in a long time.

He reported a major storm was churning Pacific waters approximately 1,700 miles west of Victoria and said there was a chance this storm might mean return of milder weather to the lower B.C. coast later in the week.

Until this ocean storm gets here, however, he forecasts continued cold.

Victoria and vicinity, which during the week-end experienced another 3.4 inches of snow, was told to expect more snow today and Tuesday.

The week-end snow began on Saturday night and by midnight a white layer 3.3 inches in depth

Weather Forecast

Ruhr Proposal

AACHEN, Germany (AP)—Anti-Communist trade unionists of seven countries demanded at a conference here Sunday that the Ruhr, Germany's war-time coal and steel arsenal, be reorganized for peaceful purposes. The conference was attended by United States, British, French, Belgian, Netherlands and Luxembourg delegates, in addition to the Germans.

Fraser Covered By Foot Of Ice At Lulu Island

RICHMOND, B.C. (BUP)—Ice piled up to a depth of one foot Sunday night tore out the 75-foot municipal dock in the Fraser River here.

The dock, built in six sections, partially broke loose with the constant pounding of piled-up ice at high tide between 6:30 and 7 Sunday night. It was used as a mooring base for seaplanes operated by Associated Air Taxi, B.C. Airlines, and charter flight services. The dock was still hanging by one anchor rope at 9 a.m. but Doug Hannay, Associated Air Taxi pilot, said, "I think she'll go right out with the outgoing tide this morning."

FLOAT CARRIED AWAY

In addition, a float in the north arm of the Fraser, used by the Queen Charlotte Airlines, was torn out by the ice.

Hannay said he was the first person to see the municipal dock break loose from its anchor.

"All I was able to save was 30 feet of gas hose and a pile pole," the pilot said.

Seaplanes were unable to operate and the airlines involved were using their amphibians today.

Chunks of six-inch ice were floating down the Fraser with the outgoing tide. But despite the ice conditions, Q.C.A. dispatched a northbound flight on time before 9 a.m.

School Holiday For Lower Grades Today Because Of Cold

Cold-enforced holiday from school was called today for nearly 5,000 children in Greater Victoria.

The school board canceled classroom sessions in primary and kindergarten grades of all schools, and all grades at Lampson Street School in Esquimalt.

In the case of the Lampson School the heating plant could not be operated because of the B.C.E.R. curtailment of domestic gas consumption. This is the only school in the system heated with gas.

Regarding the primary grades closure, school officials said it was felt that the weather was too severe for the younger children.

Thaw Machinery To Start Mills Again

Most Victoria mills reopened this morning after a three-day shutdown which started Friday when a blizzard made outside work impossible.

One or two mills, however, will remain closed until the cold snap eases.

Problem confronting those that did open was thawing out machinery and equipment. That was expected by superintendents at some mills to take a good portion of the day.

Frozen mill ponds are another troublesome result of the weather for the past six days.

Decision was to be made later today at two of the largest mills in this area whether or not to call in the night shift tonight.

"We will see how the day shift gets on before deciding on operating a night shift," one mill superintendent said.

First U.S. Air General, Wartime Commander, Dies

SONOMA, Calif. (AP)—Gen. Henry H. (Hap) Arnold, who directed the United States air war against the Axis powers, died Sunday at his ranch home. He was 63.

The veteran airman, wartime commander of the U.S. Army Air Force, succumbed to a heart condition. He had been ill since 1944. It wasn't until June 30, 1946, however, that he allowed himself to retire to his 50-acre ranch, 40 miles north of San Francisco.

The boyish-faced, genial general, born on a farm at Gladwyne, Pa., learned to fly from the Wright brothers. One of the army's first fliers in 1911, he established many "firsts" in military aviation. He became chief of the Army Air Force in 1938.

After the Air Force had become a separate arm of the service, President Truman designated him the first man to hold the new permanent rank of General of the Air Force.

60,000 Miners In U.S. Defy Lewis' 3-Day Week Order

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Nearly 60,000 soft coal miners in six states refused to obey John L. Lewis' suggestion they return to work today after a one-week strike.

Western Pennsylvania led the walkout with 45,000 of 56,000 miners idle. Alabama operators said 5,500 miners had refused to work in that state.

About 4,000 Ohio miners stayed at home, and another 2,500 were out in West Virginia, the country's No. 1 producing state, with some 110,000 miners.

In Kentucky, 2,000 miners, employed by the U.S. Coal and Coke Company, a U.S. Steel Corporation subsidiary, were not working.

But in southwest Virginia coal production was virtually in full swing, with only about 200 of the area's 15,000 miners choosing not to work.

Last Monday, 69,000 miners in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia, Alabama and Utah stayed away from work in an unexplained strike. Last week Lewis suggested they resume production today.

Some of the 11,000 Western Pennsylvania diggers who came to work were warned roving pickets would come around and pull them out again.

Illinois miners went back to work last week, but 69,000 other diggers in seven states then walked out.

After a few days, Lewis suggested the men return to the pits on the three-day work week he's imposed on the industry until he gets the contract he demands.

Gas Shut-Off Increases Problems Of Cold Snap

What's cooking? Nothing in many Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt homes today as housewives who use gas stoves were forced to prepare meals over open fireplaces, hot plates, or, in some cases, move in with friends and relatives, eat in restaurants, or go without a hot meal.

Domestic gas service, cut off shortly after 6 Sunday night in the three municipalities, is expected to be restored by this evening, B.C. Electric officials report.

The cutting off of gas came following what the company termed "a loss in the long uphill fight against the record cold."

The move could not be avoided, B.C. Electric spokesman said, pointing out that it was absolutely essential if service was to be continued to hospitals and other institutions.

Affected are approximately 2,200 families in the three areas. Company officials said the response by citizens to the plea for volunteer outbacks had been good, but when the extreme cold continued, the complete shutoff to many homes had become necessary.

During the three-day struggle to maintain complete service, the local gas plant produced 20 per cent more gas than at any time in its history.

Winter Takes Toll Of Ten Lives Across The Dominion

By BRITISH UNITED PRESS

Canada counted 10 dead and thousands of dollars' damage today in the wake of a week-end marred by violent winds in the east and deep snow and zero temperatures in the usually warmer west.

A nationwide British United Press survey showed eight persons died directly as a result of the weather and two others were burned to death.

Winds that hit gusts up to 70 miles an hour were blamed for two deaths in Montreal. The same gale was blamed for a farmer's death at Ste. Marie de Beauce, Que. An elderly woman recluse was found dead in blizzard-lashed Vancouver and police listed four highway fatalities as the nation's roads were covered with thick sheets of ice.

Harry Weiss, a 41-year-old construction worker, was killed Saturday when a 400-pound stone block hit him after it was blown from the 11th floor of the new International Aviation Building at Montreal. His co-worker, Armand Brodeur, 30, of St. Hyacinthe, Que., was improving in hospital today after the same block hit him, injuring him internally and breaking his leg.

Pierrette Chartier, seven, was blown over as she walked near her Montreal home. Her head hit the pavement. She died in hospital Sunday noon.

As gale force winds ripped roofs off buildings, broke plate glass store windows and made walking in busy streets hazardous, farmer Ulderie Perrault was killed at Ste. Marie de Beauce, Que. Police said the wind blew his barn doors off their hinges and the doors fell on him.

The toll of property damage was expected to run well past the $1,000,000 mark in eastern Canada alone, with most of it centred in the Montreal area.

Fire claimed the lives of William Lastika and his eight-year-old daughter at Seven Sisters, Alta. Lastika, operator of a store and poolroom, came home from a trip into the bush early Sunday to find his home above the store afire.

Strong winds that threw eastern Canada into a two-day turmoil had eased today, but westerners still felt the effects of bitterly cold weather that kept thermometers at the zero mark over night.

Church Too Cold, Parish Hall Used

The frigid weather which kept many people indoors Sunday affected church attendance throughout the city and rural districts.

It was estimated that church and Sunday school attendance was approximately one-third. Some churches in rural districts fared a little worse due to the Saturday night snowfall which made walking and driving difficult on some of the roads.

The temperature was so low in St. Matthias Church, Gonzales Bay district, that Rev. K. L. Sandercock reported that some people turned up for the 8 o'clock service. For evensong attendance was nine.

There was a fair attendance at Christ Church Cathedral and St. Andrew's Cathedral. Attendance was fair at most of the United Churches.

Here's Someone Who Enjoys Cold Snap

Rubbing herself with snow after dip in water at foot of Kinver Street, Esquimalt, Mrs. F. T. Allen claims it is "more refreshing" in freezing temperatures.

Nothing Stops Daily Swim Of 61-Year-Old Woman

There is an enthusiastic Esquimalt resident who does not let the weather interfere with her daily dip in the ocean.

Mrs. F. T. Allen, 323 Kinver Street, threw off her coat and laughed, "Here we go," as she plunged into the frigid water at noon today for her usual dip.

"It feels nicer now than in the summer because the air is so cold and the water seems warm," she said as she threw the water over her head and arms.

NON-SWIMMER

A non-swimmer, Mrs. Allen gets fully ducked and paddles around for a few minutes seven days a week. In the summer she often goes in five or six times a day.

After today's plunge she came out of the water, sat on a snow-covered log and vigorously rubbed her face, arms and legs with snow.

"That feels good. I just feel so warm afterwards," she remarked.

Offered a towel, she shook her head. "The salt is good for the skin... I never dry it off."

When she visited a daughter in the Yukon, she paddled in rivers in that region, but prefers salt water.

"Now for a cup of tea," was her parting remark as she donned her coat and walked the few yards from the water's edge to her house.

Sunday Sports Soon

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Hiram McCallum said today he is confident the Ontario government will introduce a bill at this session to make possible a civic by-law providing for Sunday sport.

The mayor made the statement following a conference with Premier Frost.

Church Too Cold, Parish Hall Used

The frigid weather which kept many people indoors Sunday affected church attendance throughout the city and rural districts.

It was estimated that church and Sunday school attendance was approximately one-third. Some churches in rural districts fared a little worse due to the Saturday night snowfall which made walking and driving difficult on some of the roads.

The temperature was so low in St. Matthias Church, Gonzales Bay district, that Rev. K. L. Sandercock converted the parish hall into a temporary place of worship for his congregation.

Both the Sunday school and church services were held in the hall.

Despite the cold weather Mr. Sandercock reported that some people turned up for the 8 o'clock service. For evening attendance was nine.

There was a fair attendance at Christ Church Cathedral and St. Andrew's Cathedral. Attendance was fair at most of the United Churches.

Red Bloc Stages General Walkout Of U.N. Meetings

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—The Soviet bloc staged a general walkout in three United Nations meetings today in protest against the continued presence of Chinese Nationalists here.

The Russian-led group also kept up its boycott of the year-around Little Assembly where the Nationalist charges that Russia helped the Chinese Reds to power are up for air.

Czechoslovakia delegate Vladimir Houdek told a reporter the boycott would prevail in all U.N. bodies.

The committees first affected in the new boycotts were the only ones in session during the forenoon. They are the economic and social committee on procedure, the sub-committee on the prevention of discrimination and the protection of minorities, and the special committee on stateless persons.

In each case the pattern was the same. The Soviet delegate first proposed that the Chinese delegate be expelled. Each chairman ruled that the proposal was out of order. And the Soviet representatives then announced they would ignore the committees until the Chinese Nationalists were removed.

Storm At Sea May Bring Milder Weather To City

Cold Slows Garbage Pick-Up

City garbage men have been unable to maintain collection schedule because of the bad weather.

There will be a lag of two or three days in pick-ups, it was announced today.

Officials of the public works department explained that it is impossible to operate the garbage dumping scows efficiently because of the freezing temperatures.

"The wet garbage becomes a solid mass, the dumping mechanism on the scows freezes up, and we can't get rid of the stuff," they said.

Collections today were up to schedule, though, after a delay of several days last week, they reported.

A-Bomb 1,000 Times Greater Is U.S. Rumor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington is buzzing with reports that the United States government may undertake development of a super A-bomb; perhaps 1,000 times more powerful than the kind the U.S. now has.

While no official will talk about it, the report has gained such wide circulation that it has given rise to a series of corollary reports and rumors. Among the more reports that:

1. Some scientists now working on atomic projects have already served notice they will refuse to have anything to do with the "super bomb" project.

2. The real reason David Lilienthal resigned as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission was because he was opposed to the project.

In a broadcast Sunday night, Drew Pearson, the radio commentator, said that was the reason Lilienthal resigned. Asked about Pearson's statement, Lilienthal said today he had "no comment."

Pearson also said Lilienthal had asked Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York to line up opposition to such a move. Lilienthal declined comment on that report also. In Indianapolis, Bishop Oxnam said Lilienthal had not consulted him on any such matter.

500 Pounds Of Food A Day Scattered For Game Birds

Provincial game branch officers are feeding 500 pounds of grain and grit a day to game birds in the Victoria area during the current cold spell.

Officers said today that while birds elsewhere would be accustomed to climatic conditions such as those Victorians have had to contend with during the past week, wild birds are not. Feeding is necessary to help the birds survive.

Pheasants and quail, along with other game birds, are benefiting from the feeding program. Officers are scattering the grain under trees where there is little snow. It is not satisfactory to put out the grain on the snow because it will tend to be covered before the birds find it.

Local game officers have in hand the problem of feeding ducks at Elk Lake. Some sort of feeding place will have to be provided. Grain scattered on the ice becomes frozen to the ice and the birds are unable to pick it off.

Grit is necessary for the digestion of foods by birds and, officials are buying 400 pounds of grain and 100 pounds of grit a day for their feeding program.

So far there is no evidence that many birds have succumbed to the cold and lack of food.

The wild birds are, however, banding together for protection and warmth and as a result care has to be taken that roving dogs do not molest them during feeding periods when, according to game officers, the birds would be unaware of the danger.

One officer reported seeing a covey of 200 mall in the Royal Oak area. Sunday an officer came across 25 or 30 pheasants huddled together in the Metchoin area.

Says Meat-Eating Basic Cause Of War

TORONTO (CP)—The basic cause of war is meat-eating, A. B. Davies of Hamilton said here last night.

Mr. Davies, who describes himself as a naturopath, told the Toronto unit of the Canadian Vegetarian Union that meat-eating and fighting will always be inseparable. The meat-eater is a "born fighter," he said.

The title of his address was "Why No Peace Without Vegetarianism?"

Clergyman Sentenced

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Rev. George P. Hetenyi, 40-year-old Episcopal supply minister, today was sentenced to serve 30 years to life in prison for the fatal shooting of his pretty, young wife. The Hungarian-born clergyman was convicted of shooting his wife, Jean, 25, and throwing the body into the Genesee River, where it was found last April 23.

Pigeon Bread-Line

A downtown bread-line has resulted from the cold snap. A tenant at Seven Ten apartment home on Fort Street has had five pigeons as regular callers for scraps of bread he put out on the window-sill.

Today word got around of the hand-outs. There were 22 pigeons waiting to be fed.

Nationalist Ships Raise Red Flag; 80 More To Follow

HONGKONG (AP)—Thirteen merchant ships of a company operated by the Chinese Nationalists have gone over to the Chinese Communists. About 80 more are reported ready to follow suit.

The China Merchants Steam Navigation Company's 13 vessels in Hongkong harbor hoisted the Red Flag. They pulled down the Nationalist ensign Saturday night.

A company official said the remainder of its fleet, about 80 ships, also would defect to the Reds. Some of these, now plying routes to Formosa, Japan, Bangkok and Singapore, may have gone over already, he said.

The company's fleet aggregates almost 300,000 tons, of which 100,000 tons are Liberty ships. Most of the vessels are designed for coastwise navigation.

B.C. Gift Apples To Be Put On Sale Soon In Britain

LONDON (CP)—The Food Ministry said today it expects a gift shipment of 1,250,000 boxes of British Columbia apples to arrive in late February and early March. They will be put on sale immediately.

The apples, worth more than $1,500,000, are the gift of British Columbia Tree Fruits Ltd., the co-operative marketing agency of the Okanagan fruit growers.

A Food Ministry spokesman said it would be almost impossible for the Ministry to give the apples to Britons free. He explained it was not merely a matter of dumping them on the pier and saying "Come and get them." They would have to go through regular marketing channels and this would cost money.

The Food Ministry plans to sell them at the prevailing controlled price, he said. The shipment will arrive at a time when apples are scarce in Britain.

Alberta Cold Snap Comes Day Closer To Record Length

By Canadian Press

Alberta's cold snap came another day closer to record length today with Medicine Hat heading the list of cold cities. After almost a month of sub-zero weather, the mercury plunged to 49 degrees below at Medicine Hat Sunday, two degrees off the all-time record for the city.

Today, the thermometer showed 35 below in Medicine Hat after an overnight low of 38 below. There was a trace of snow and ice crystal reported by the Dominion Public Weather Office, Calgary and Lethbridge also had traces of snow or ice crystals with temperatures of 23 and 25 below, respectively. A wind of 12 miles an hour was blowing in Lethbridge.

Temperatures of 25 below at Edmonton were a relief from the 40 below registered for several days. Heavy ice fog which covered most of the city late last week lifted slightly today.

Extra Men Work On Snow Removal

Extra men are being used by the city public works department in snow removal operations.

Efforts are being made to clear gutters and drains so that when the thaw comes there will be a minimum of flooding.

Piles of snow cleared from downtown sidewalks by storemen and operators of other businesses is being picked up also.

The snow is being trucked to the garbage wharf where it is dumped into the harbor.

Expect Relief Later In Week

The weatherman today issued his first optimistic announcement in a long time.

He reported a major storm was churning Pacific waters approximately 1,700 miles west of Victoria and said there was a chance this storm might mean return of milder weather to the lower B.C. coast later in the week.

Until this ocean storm gets here, however, he forecasts continued cold.

Victoria and vicinity, which during the week-end experienced another 3.4 inches of snow, was told to expect more snow today and Tuesday.

The week-end snow began on Saturday night and by midnight a white layer 3.3 inches in depth covered the area. An additional one-tenth of an inch fell Sunday morning.

Only a light flurry was recorded this morning.

Minimum temperature during the week-end was 15, registered between Saturday midnight and 1 Sunday morning. Maximum temperature was 20.6, between 1.30 and 3.30 Sunday afternoon. Official temperature reading at the Gonzales Observatory at noon today was 20 degrees.

Total snowfall so far this month stands at 18.1 inches. Record January snowfall occurred in 1916 when the city experienced 30.2 inches during the year's first month. At that time, the snow came all at once. This year, at no time has the snow been deeper than 6 inches on the level ground.

Five City Schools Closed

The cold today closed five Greater Victoria schools in addition to the classrooms of kindergarten and the first three grades in all other schools.

The five which shut down entirely are: Strawberry Vale, Gordon Head, Cedar Hill, Central Junior High and Lampson.

Curtailment of gas consumption by the B.C. Electric Railway forced closure of the Lampson School which is the only school in the area heated by gas.

In the four others it was stated by school officials that difficulty had been experienced in keeping classrooms warm enough for studies.

The kindergarten and primary grades were canceled for an indefinite period because it was felt the weather was too severe for the little tots.

"These classrooms will remain closed for the next day or so. Reopening will be announced in the papers," said J. F. K. English, municipal inspector.

No SOS Sent At Once When Truculent Sunk

CHATHAM, Eng. (AP)—The skipper of the Swedish tanker Divina said today the delay in notifying the Royal Navy its submarine Truculent had been sunk was because "I had no idea we had struck a submarine."

The navy says it was an hour and 20 minutes before it heard the Truculent was sunk last Thursday after being in collision with the Divina.

Meanwhile many of the trapped crew had come out through escape hatches, naval authorities declared, only to die in the icy water when no rescue ship appeared to pick them up. The disaster cost the lives of 64 of the 79 men aboard the Truculent.

The Divina's skipper, Capt. Carl Hommerberg, told reporters: "I had no idea that we had struck a submarine at all. We all thought we had been in collision with some kind of surface vessel and that there would be survivors swimming in the water."

"In those circumstances, we did what I considered—and still consider—the proper thing to do. We launched a boat and threw out lifeboats."

"I await the outcome of this inquiry (an admiralty investigation) with confidence," Hommerberg said.

"The Truculent survivors we picked up were not in any fit state to talk and for a long time we continued our rescue operations without realizing it was a submarine we had been in collision with."

Meanwhile, Royal Navy salvage experts laid plans today to lift the Truculent from the bottom of the Thames estuary and beach her on Britain's east coast.

Wolves Shot From Air

TORONTO (CP)—Predatory animals may be hunted from aircraft or other vehicles, it was announced today by Ontario Lands Minister Scott. Recently sportsmen have been spotting wolves from airplanes, then landing to finish them off, said Mr. Scott. The department hopes to encourage such hunting and to revive the old European custom of hunting wolves for sport.

18 Jap Sailors Missing

TOKYO (AP)—The motor ship Kisei Maru, a 30-ton vessel, sank off the coast of Hokkaido today. Eighteen persons are missing and are feared drowned.

Acheson Confirms Britain Shipping Arms To Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Acheson confirmed in a letter made public Sunday night that Britain has resumed shipments of arms to Iraq, Hashemite Jordan and Egypt under treaties with those Arab countries.

Writing Representative Jacob Javits (Rep., N.Y.), the Secretary said it is "no secret" and that the security of the Middle East is of great importance to the West. He added:

"It is desirable that the countries in this part of the world obtain from reliable and friendly sources such arms as they may need for their legitimate security requirements."

Javits had written Acheson expressing concern that arms sent to Arab states would be used for a new attack against Israel. The New York representative said Communist danger to the Middle East would be greatest in the confusion growing out of any renewal of armed Arab action against the Jewish state.

Acheson, in his reply which the Congressman made public, said the State Department's analysis of all available information does not indicate that any serious preparations are being made for a resumption of the Palestine fighting.

Australians Hope To Sell More To Canada

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Devaluation has thrown Canada "wide open" for trade and now is Australia's opportunity to increase exports, G. Roulston, manufacturers' representative, said today. Roulston, who is turned on the liner Aorangi, is Australian representative for a group of Canadian and U.S. manufacturers.

WEATHER WISDOM

IT HAS LONG BEEN recognized that, when everything else is exhausted in the conversational ambit, one can always fall back on the weather. And certainly the vagaries of the weather have been running a close second to that of Sunday sports in conversational favor in the last week or so.

I don't know whether the upset conditions in the Far East have upset the Japanese current as well, but certainly Victoria has not been producing the brand of weather we—and the Publicity Bureau—consider it should. So much so that I am expecting daily to hear this city referred to as "a little bit of Saskatchewan on the shores of the Pacific."

And the fact that the Weather Man has been strangely right in his prediction of these vagaries hasn't made them any the easier to take—as far as I am concerned, that is.

OLD SEERS UPHELD

FOR LONGER than I care to admit, I have given far more credence to the old-fashioned jingles forecasting the weather than to the official Weather Man who hasn't always done right by our Victoria, when it comes to prognosticating. In fact, at times he has been almost libellous.

So I got quite a lift when I saw that science has been turning its cold eye on the ancient wisecracks who started those jingles—and has conceded that their sayings are "surprisingly accurate and sound in scientific principle."

SCIENTIFIC SURVEY

IT WAS AT THE NEW YORK convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science that Dr. Vaden W. Miles, physicist at Wayne University, Detroit, told that gathering—which attracted 10,000 scientists from all over America—of his findings after a year's study of the old prophecies.

According to him, the old-time seers proved right with their weather jingles two out of three times, as judged by today's scientific standards. And if botanists and biologists had been among the judges, the score might have been even higher, he attested.

BIOLOGIST AND BOTANIST

FOR INSTANCE, only a biologist could pass judgment on such a jingle as:

"A coming storm your shooting corns pressage, Aches will throb, your hollow tooth will rage."

While it would be up to the botanist to say whether this had any justification, as claimed by many rural believers:

"Onion skin very thin,
Mild winter coming in,
Onion skin thick and tough,
Coming winter cold and rough."

But I was glad to see that my old favorite about "Red sky at night, shepherds' delight; red sky at morning, shepherds' warning" was one of the 68.5 per cent judged true in terms of physical science principles.

TRUE TO SCIENCE

ANOTHER OLD VERSION of that "red sky" idea was among others conceded accurate in its forecasting. It is:

"Evening red and morning grey sets the traveler on his way, Evening grey and morning red brings down showers on his head."

In the same reliable class, Dr. Miles reported he had found these equally ancient saws:

1. "When the wind is in the east it's good for neither man nor beast,"
2. "Mackerel clouds in the sky, expect more wet than dry,"
3. "Moonlight, nights has the heaviest frost,"
4. "When the wind is in the south, it blows your bait into the fish's mouth."

FALSE PROPHETS

BUT I CONFESS I was rather surprised to learn that one of my old standbys, "Rain before 7, clear before 11" was definitely put in the "false prophets" class by the jury of scientists. That decision will dampen the enthusiasm of many a picnicer who had relied on the "7 come 11" theory as a basis for making sandwiches.

Now that the despised old saws have been vindicated, perhaps science will turn its weather eye on some of our old Indian signs and portents, such as early nut-gathering chipmunks as forecasting a hard winter. There may be something in them, after all, to refute the scoffers and skeptics.

Veteran Liska To Pilot Salem Club

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Ad Liska, who came within two games of winning 200 contests for the Portland Beavers in the Coast League, Saturday became manager of the Salem Club in the Class "B" Western International League.

William Mulligan, general manager of the Portland Club, announced Liska's appointment to head the Portland farm club. It meant the end of the veteran right-hander's quest for 200 Coast League wins. He started last season with 194 victories but managed to win only four while losing 11.

He still may get more victories in the Western International loop. Mulligan said that Liska, now 42, would be a playing manager.

U.S. On Building Spree Abroad

WASHINGTON—America is in the process of providing its diplomats abroad with the fanciest housing that foreign money can buy.

In 300 major cities around the world, Uncle Sam is making good use of otherwise trapped foreign currencies to build embassies, ministries and legations, the likes of which U.S. diplomats have never enjoyed before.

Everybody seems happy about the plan. Congress has authorized $125,000,000 for the work. But only a tiny fraction of this will come from the U.S. Treasury. It's money due the government from lend-lease, surplus property disposal and blocked funds which would be almost worthless to Uncle Sam unless used for this purpose.

The 68 countries in which this work is being done are happy because it releases these funds and provides employment for thousands of construction workers.

In the long run it will save U.S. taxpayers millions in the form of rent. In London alone, as a result of the purchase and modernization of a group of American foreign office buildings, more than $500,000 will be saved each year.

The new projects range from the luxurious $1.8 million embassy office being built in downtown Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, to modernistic residences for ambassadors. The new Rio office will be one of the most modern structures in a city already noted for modern buildings. It will be patterned after the United Nations building now being erected in New York. U.N. architects helped in its design.

Even if these foreign credits and blocked currencies hadn't been available in such great amounts, State Department Architect Leland W. King says, Outgoing Rio's already modern architecture, this is a model of the office building the U.S. State Department is putting up in the Brazilian city. Examining it here is Harold L. Cuoto, Brazilian contractor for the project.

the U.S. would have had to start some kind of construction program for its offices abroad. Little building has gone on in the world in the last 15 years, he explains, and many of the older U.S. buildings overseas were ruined by bombing. About half of the program is new construction and half modernization.

Two other reasons are cited for the program: Since America's role in foreign affairs has increased tremendously since the war, more U.S. representatives are needed abroad. They need office space and places to live.

Picturesque Past Kept In Villages Of Newfoundland

By RUPERT JACKSON

TIZZARD'S HARBOR, Nfld. (CP)—The adjective has been overworked but there is no getting away from the fact Newfoundlanders are a picturesque people living in a picturesque land.

The colorful place-names alone tell much of the province's history. And in tiny settlements like this north shore village, one finds the typical fishermen of Newfoundland.

Tizzard's Harbor is really two harbors, separated by a cape jutting out into the sea, but the main village is confined to the around the foreshore of the best of the two.

To get here one must travel by boat, and to enter the harbor the craft must skirt a small island guarding the entrance. Once past this barrier you can see the entire settlement with one sweeping glance.

Down on the waterfront are the fishing stages and the store-rooms of the principal merchant. A winding road separates these from the neat homes of the fishermen, scattered among the grassy patches and rough, jutting rocks.

Compared with some of the outposts, Tizzard's Harbor is well off for transportation. All summer a boat service connects it with other parts of the coast. But in winter, like everyone else in northern Newfoundland, the settlement's people depend on dog-teams.

On a hill looking over the village of 250 inhabitants stands the church.

The people themselves are slow to change their ancestral customs. The dog of an old Tizzard's Harbor boat-builder died. The old man rolled the dog over with his foot, commenting: "Thee beest ded beest thee?" Freely translated that meant "you are dead, are you?" The old man was of Quaker stock from the west of England.

But besides customs and accents, areas in which English, Irish and French settled in Newfoundland can be distinguished by the settlement names.

Along the south coast are Bay d'Espoir, Cinq Bay, Isle au Bois and Cape la Hune. Another section of the coast is still called the French shore and contains such settlements as Quirpon, Lance au Meadows, la Scie and Croc.

Winter Takes Toll Of Ten Lives Across The Dominion

By BRITISH UNITED PRESS

Canada counted 10 dead and thousands of dollars' damage today in the wake of a week-end marred by violent winds in the east and deep snow and zero temperatures in the usually warmer west.

A nationwide British United Press survey showed eight persons died directly as a result of the weather and two others were burned to death.

Winds that hit gusts up to 70 miles an hour were blamed for two deaths in Montreal. The same gale was blamed for a farmer's death at Ste. Marie de Beauce, Que. An elderly woman recluse was found dead in blizzard-lashed Vancouver and police listed four highway fatalities as the nation's roads were covered with thick sheets of ice.

Harry Weiss, a 41-year-old construction worker, was killed Saturday when a 400-pound stone block hit him after it was blown from the 11th floor of the new International Aviation Building at Montreal. His co-worker, Armand Brodeur, 30, of St. Hyacinthe, Que., was improving in hospital today after the same block hit him, injuring him internally and breaking his leg.

Pierrette Chartier, seven, was blown over as she walked near her Montreal home. Her head hit the pavement. She died in hospital Sunday noon.

As gale force winds ripped roofs off buildings, broke plate glass store windows and made walking in busy streets hazardous, farmer Ulderick Perrault was killed at Ste. Marie de Beauce, Que. Police said the wind blew his barn doors off their hinges and the doors fell on him.

was expected to run well past the $1,000,000 mark in eastern Canada alone, with most of it centred in the Montreal area.

Fire claimed the lives of William Lastika and his eight-year-old daughter at Seven Sisters, Alta. Lastika, operator of a store and poolroom, came home from a trip into the bush early Sunday to find his home above the store afire.

Yarrows Ltd. today are putting finishing touches to conversion work on Sioux and her crew is expected to join Wednesday.

Greatest break with the past is adoption of bunks in the sleeping spaces, each with a reading lamp. Use of hammocks aboard Sioux has been abandoned.

Cafeteria messing will ensure hot meals for ship's company and will eliminate the usual practice of each mess, sending up to the galley for the meal. Food will be kept hot in a steam table located in a special compartment just outside the dining space. An automatic dishwasher will do the major share of the work in cleaning up.

Sioux's galley will rival anything in a modern restaurant. It is almost entirely electric. A deep fryer, bread-maker, meat-slicer, potato peeler and other implements are all electrically powered. Fittings are in stainless steel.

A laundry room, with a capacity rotary, washer, tumbler drier and steam presser, will solve the laundry problem while at sea. Electric hand-irons also will be provided in the living quarters.

Amenities for the men will be the best possible for a destroyer. Ice cream can be manufactured in the canteen where a real soda fountain has been established. A radio room with latest in radio and phonograph equipment will enable music to be broadcast throughout the ship.

Prompt Response Of Ladysmith Citizens Saves City Being Without Water Supply

The City of Ladysmith, 14 miles south of Nanaimo, was saved from danger of being without an adequate supply of water today through a prompt response by residents to an appeal of Leonard Ryan and the city council, to cut water consumption to the minimum.

Source of the trouble is the city's reservoir which froze during the week-end.

"It's not that we are short of water; we have plenty behind the dam," Mayor Ryan said. "It's just that the run-off is too great and with our reservoir frozen, we are having trouble to get more water through."

Early this morning, in a telephone talk with the Times, the mayor reported the reservoir almost dry. By noon, however, when he was again contacted, he reported co-operation of citizens had allowed water to build up under the thick covering of ice in the reservoir and that pressure had increased by 20 pounds.

"Co-operation has been good, but we are not safe yet," he said. "Further saving of water is necessary. We are relying on the people to co-operate further."

Mayor Ryan expressed fears as to what would happen if a fire broke out. With little water and low pressure to fight with, firemen would have little chance in saving property, he thought.

A fire at this time, he said, could be disastrous to the entire city. He urged residents to use extreme caution when thawing out frozen water pipes and warned against overheating fires and furnaces.

Other island centres, including Duncan, had their water supplies threatened during the week-end but service this morning was still good.

NEW SNOW ON MALAHAT

On the Malahat and in the Cobble Hill areas 15 inches of new snow fell during the week-end. Fine and powdery, the snow started Saturday night and kept up almost continuously to this morning. This morning's fall was very light.

Department of public works crews plowed the highway Sunday and this morning and traffic was getting through without real difficulty.

Skating At Shawnigan

At Shawnigan Lake, residents enjoyed outdoor skating Sunday on Lonsdale Bay in front of the Lonsdale School for Boys. Although ice was reported on other sections of the lake, this was the only part safe for skating according to Provincial Police officer Robert Ross.

At Cowichan Bay, long-time residents were amazed to see a covering of ice stretching right across the bay. No one was found who could remember seeing this before. The ice was cracked and broken with the rise and fall of the tide.

At Duncan the temperature for a brief time this morning dropped close to zero. It had risen sharply before daybreak, however.

Mayor James C. Wragg of Duncan said there was no shortage of water in the city but conditions were worsening in the outlying Gibbins area. If the people do not conserve voluntarily the water may have to be shut off, he said.

"I was in one house where seven taps were running," he said, as he appealed for householders' cooperation. "Our pumps are working to capacity and the reservoir will only hold so much."

"On Saturday we pumped 240,000 gallons, the capacity of the reservoir on Gibbins Road and they were right out by Sunday morning, although that amount would ordinarily last the 50-60 houses concerned for four or five days."

Ladysmith had about 8 inches of snow Saturday night. The fall was intermittent Sunday and light this morning. Schools in the area were closed. The temperature was about 15 early today.

NANAIMO SCHOOLS CLOSE

Nanaimo experienced a snowfall of four inches during the week-end. It was clear and cold this morning with the temperature hovering around 18 degrees. Public schools in the city were closed. Traffic was getting through but there were few cars to be seen on the roads.

At Courtenay, there was only a very light fall of snow during the week-end although outlying areas nearby received as much as 14 inches. Temperature this morning was 15 degrees.

Lewis Park and Minto Schools were closed for the day.

Further north, at Campbell River, four to five inches of new snow was reported during the week-end. It was still snowing this morning. Schools closed. Most of last week reopened today. Only big damage here so far was the Saturday night fire which completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Spiers. Mr. Spiers is a mill-worker here.

At Port Alberni, a light flurry of snow was experienced Saturday and Sunday evenings. This morning, it was clear and cold. The temperature was 13 above this morning. Schools are still open here but the water supply is getting low. The city council has warned citizens to go easy.

There will be an organ recital at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, by Frederick Chubb, B.A., F.R.C.O., Wednesday at 8.30.

Expect Full Gas Service To Be Resumed By Tonight

HANDICAPPED HOUSEWIFE—Like many housewives in Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt, Mrs. Marshall N. Limon, 1731 Armstrong Avenue, was handicapped in the kitchen today by enforced gas shut-off in municipalities, but managed to cook with borrowed hotplate. Looking on is her seven-year-old daughter, Diane, and Sylvester, the Siamese cat.

Domestic gas in Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay should be on this evening, but B.C. Electric officials would not predict a definite hour at press time today.

Service is expected to be resumed within two hours of the arrival in Victoria of an E. and N. Railway car with a tank of propane gas. The tank, twice delayed in transit from Alberta by weather conditions, arrived at Ladysmith by barge this morning.

A spokesman said the company did not wish to commit itself as to a definite time of resumption of the service, off since shortly after 6 Sunday evening, until the propane tank was in the yards here.

MOVE IMPERATIVE

Until Sunday the gas company had believed it would not be necessary to cut off service to any districts but, officials said, the draw-off that day, normally not large, ran to excessive amounts and made the move absolutely imperative if service was to be continued to hospitals.

Meanwhile, housewives in the three municipalities were cooking over open fireplaces or on hotplates — if they had them. Many cases were reported where neighbors loaned hotplates to those affected by the shutoff. Many ate in restaurants or with friends and relatives.

The cutting off of gas for approximately 2,200 families came after what B.C. Electric officials termed "a long, uphill fight against the record cold." During the recent spell, the gas plant produced 20 per cent more gas than at any time in its history.

EXTREME REGRET

"It was a move which had to be made with the most extreme regret," a company officer said.

"We felt that, as a result of record production figures through the cold spell, we were over the hump—and we would have been had the necessary supplies of fuel from Alberta not been delayed a second time in transit by difficulties which the railroads have been experiencing."

"We are very aware that the move must have caused great inconvenience, and we regret that there was no alternative possible. The three districts, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich, represent approximately 25 per cent of the gas load in Greater Victoria."

INTELLIGENT BUDGETING

DISCLOSURE THAT THE FIRST NINE months of Canada's fiscal year have ended with the national ledger showing a surplus of some $300,000,000 draws attention again to the budgeting policy that has become traditional in the Liberal administration at Ottawa and is now being ably carried out by Finance Minister Douglas Abbott. Briefly, the idea is that in good times taxes should raise more revenue than the country needs immediately, in order that the excess may be used to retire public debt that is undertaken in less prosperous years. This allows the country to ease the burden of taxes when citizens begin to feel the economic pinch in a time of recession, and it keeps in the foreground the important fact that the national debt cannot be allowed to increase indefinitely—payments must be made against it whenever possible if ultimate bankruptcy is to be avoided.

The present surplus is not likely to be maintained at the $300,000,000 level until the end of the fiscal year next March 31. Mr. Abbott budgeted for a $90,000,000 surplus, and although this may be exceeded, the current excess is bound to be diminished as expenditures run ahead of revenues during the final months of the period. The general situation, however, shows the Dominion to be still in economically sound condition. The last year ended with a surplus of $595,000,000, and 1947-48 likewise showed a sizeable balance in the black. Application of funds to the retirement of our large national debt has therefore been considerable, and it should be remembered that every reduction in the amount that we, as a nation, owe, correspondingly lightens the burden of interest which must be paid on our borrowed money. And the proportion of interest charges in the operating budgets of all levels of government these days—be they municipal, provincial, or federal—is such as to make any decrease a matter of earnest planning and striving.

The laws of economics, like those natural laws governing physics, chemistry, meteorology and other sciences, apply in much the same manner to nations as to individuals. And any householder or businessman will readily agree that a continued "running in the red" cannot long be maintained if an individual or a nation is to remain solvent. That is a thought all too often overlooked by those who urge greater governmental expenditures on the one hand, while calling for drastic tax reductions—with consequent curtailment of federal income—on the other. In such a circumstance, borrowing, with steadily mounting interest costs, could be the only recourse, and here again the individual and the nation are similar in their ultimate economic fates. Mr. Abbott is following a sound policy, one that cannot fail to benefit this country. And although voices are raised against it here and there from time to time by critics of various political leanings, the verdict of the mass of Canadians, delivered last June in the general election, seems to indicate that the men and women of the Dominion are well content to have their government operate on sound, orthodox lines.

'MID SNOW AND ICE'

IN THE NEWS COLUMNS THE OTHER day attention was drawn to some of the jobs made doubly difficult and uncomfortable by the severe weather Greater Victoria has been experiencing. One of the more arduous has been that carried out by the newspaper boys of the Victoria Daily Times. In the extreme cold, high wind and snow, these young men have completed their routes each day without default. That is an accomplishment of some magnitude for boys. On other occasions we have paid tribute to their energetic and efficient service. We reaffirm it today, not without pride in the type of youth which is taking the news to the home in spite of the tricks that winter has played on this community.

LOCAL CHAMPION

AS IT HAS FOR THE PAST QUARTER of a century, the New Year's Eve edition of the Lethbridge Herald contained a comprehensive review of southern Alberta's economic progress during the preceding 12 months, and this indefatigable champion of its city and its province has been able to record a year of very favorable advances. Wheat, of course, is the "big money maker" in southern Alberta, and the crop, plus back payments provided some $86,000,000 of new wealth for the area served by Lethbridge. Although livestock returns were a little lower than in 1948, coal, oil, gas and manufactures maintained their levels, and southern Alberta bank clearings set an all-time record.

A production total of more than $151,000,000 for the area provides concrete evidence of prosperity, being about three times the prewar average. We are not suggesting that Senator W. A. Buchanan and his well-known journal are responsible for these results. After all, a considerable amount of credit must be given to weather and crop conditions, market opportunities and other factors. But few residents of Lethbridge and southern Alberta will be inclined to underestimate the effects of the newspapers' consistent support of the region. Such unwavering public service as it has demonstrated over the years cannot fail to achieve results.

ORDERS PLACED

NEWS THAT THE UNITED KINGDOM has contracted for British Columbia lumber shipments totalling 82,000,000 board feet, to be delivered over the next six months, will be welcomed in this province. Canada's recent devaluation of the dollar gave B.C. mills an advantage in bidding against American producers, so that the orders represent 95 per cent of Britain's requirements from the west coast for the first half of 1950. United States mills will supply the remaining five per cent. Although prices have not been revealed, the current contract will probably amount to nearly $6,000,000. This compares with deliveries of equal value ordered in the third quarter of 1949. Canadian lumber sales to the British market, like exports of other commodities, no doubt will show a drop this year, but domestic and United States purchases may be expected to keep the industry in a healthy condition for some time to come.

APPROACH TO ASIA

HAVING REAFFIRMED THE "CON- tinuing and substantial community of outlook in their approach to current problems of foreign affairs," representatives of the Commonwealth are now home, or returning home, from the Colombo conference with a vitally important job before them and their countries. The task is to develop that economic strength throughout the fraternity of nations which will make it an even more positive force in world affairs. The magnitude of the undertaking is staggering. Yet it is not beyond hope that self-help and mutual aid among Asian peoples, stimulated by the use of credits and technical assistance from the Commonwealth countries, may be effective.

The attitude of the conference appears to bear the imprint of Nehru's influence. In his own country, in the United States and in other lands he has visited, the Indian leader has underscored the necessity of improving the lot of the Asian masses if the slide to Communism is to be checked. On other occasions we have pointed to the herculean labor imposed upon the "have" countries if they are to relieve conditions among the "have nots." No nation today can afford to establish doles for the unfortunate of other lands. A more constructive program is required if economic assistance from the more prosperous is to have any abiding benefit among those in less fortunate circumstances. Stimulation of self-help and mutual aid seems the desirable alternative. Pouring assistance into countries which might use it merely for subsistence would repeat former "operations rat-hole" that have been subjected to justifiable censure in various parts of the world. On the other hand, if an approach to the Asian problem—as it exists among non-Communist lands—can be made on the rehabilitative and initiative style applied to Europe under E.C.A., very substantial progress seems possible. A double advantage is suggested in that course. Not only would it help to improve the material welfare of the peoples concerned; it would relieve the newly emerging nations of those suspicions of imperialism that occasionally arise when a wealthier nation pours funds and goods into a poorer country.

As far as Canada is concerned, a two-fold purpose may be served. Co-operative assistance from this Dominion should be a factor in proving that democratic action on western lines is a workable possibility for Asiatic countries. And if friendship is established under such auspices, opportunities for trade may be enhanced. How those objectives may be furthered by this northern half of North America may be indicated when Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson presents the Colombo decisions to the government at Ottawa.

GOOD ANYWAY

NATURE LOVERS WILL HAVE APPROVED of the news item which told of a new humane technique shortly to be applied to the pearl industry in Japan. It seems that mortality is high among oysters whose shells are forced apart in search of pearls, and although no complaints have been heard from the bi-valves themselves, records show that about 60 per cent of them do not survive the operation. But with the new scientific method, it is hoped to reduce this figure to 10 per cent. According to the president of the Imperial Pearl Syndicate, oysters will now be dipped in an anesthetic solution for an hour or two. This soothes and relaxes them and the pearls may be extracted without effort.

The oysters are not pioneers in this type of experience. Many of our humane innovations in industry have resulted directly from economic motives rather than from compassionate impulses, and it has even been asserted by some economic historians that the reform of child labor conditions in British sweat-shops, for instance, came as a result of the proprietors' realization that profits were suffering rather than from humanitarian feelings. Be that as it may—and it must be remembered that the child laborers had little more voice than oysters in asking for better living or working conditions—the fact remains that progress no matter from what impulse it springs. And the fact that humane innovations may have an accompanying dollars and cents value—and vice versa—need detract in no whit from our satisfaction over the end result.

Lighthearted Golf

By A. K. ASTBURY from London

THE GAME of golf has been played in Britain for five centuries. And while I know that Britain's enthusiasm for games is not shared, or understood, all over the Commonwealth, I do know that golf has many devotees in North America. (It is said, with some truth, that wherever there are Scotsmen one will usually find a golf club!) And while no great player of games myself, I yet find something interesting in the fact that after 500 years the rules of The Royal and Ancient Game, as it has always been called, should have been changed recently. The changes, decided on at a meeting of the Royal and Ancient Club at St. Andrews, Scotland, the coast town which is the home of golf, became effective as from New Year's Day, 1950.

THE GAME is apparently to become more lighthearted, and the new rules are simpler and less penal than the old. Penalties for purposeful infraction of the rules are, however, heavier. And yet no one can complain, under these new rules, that golf is a cruel game; for although provision is now made for penalizing the unduly slow player, sheltering on the course is permitted "if danger from lightning is apprehended!"

One of the main changes in the rules is that concerning obstructions, which may now be moved, or the ball near them lifted and dropped, without penalty. If, for instance, you drive your golf ball into an empty stout bottle (as happened to a player in a cup match in 1948) you don't have now to hit both ball and bottle (as he had to do); you can regard the bottle as an unexpected and artificial hazard—and take the ball out of it before hitting it.

YOU PROBABLY know that golf originated in Scotland, where in 1457 the government unsuccessfully ordered its suppression; and there is a house in Edinburgh—77 Canongate—which bears witness to Scottish enthusiasm for the game in a later century. For when, in the 1660's, the Duke of York was challenged to play a game of golf for high stakes by two English noblemen, he called in a certain Edinburgh cobbler named Paterson and together they defeated the challengers. Paterson was, I suppose, of professional standing. Anyway, he bought number 77 Canongate with that part of the stake money which the Royal Duke gave him and the house remains, a permanent memorial to the golfing cobbler of Edinburgh.

If I cannot claim to present golf to you as a player of the game I can certainly claim to some knowledge of my next subject, that of circuses—a knowledge acquired entirely in childhood, I may say. Now what the promoters claim as the first international exhibition of Circusiana in Britain has just been opened in a London store by that master of versatility and renowned man of letters, Compton Mackenzie.

CIRCUSIANA, you will have guessed, if you didn't already know, is anything to do with the circus. And in this exhibition you had it all, right from Astley's Amphitheatre, London's first circus, to the present day. One exhibit gave the program of Astley's circus in 1768; there was a 19th century bill advertising Van Amburg, the first man to put his head in a lion's mouth in public, and one recording the antics of Dicky Usher, the clown. Usher was the first (and surely the last!) to drive a washing tub pulled by geese along the river Thames from Westminster to Blackfriars, and to return in a chariot pulled by four (pantomime?) cats. And there was the waistcoat worn by Tom Thumb, the world's most famous midgie, who was presented to Queen Victoria and Abraham Lincoln and got married in 1863 when just over three feet high.

CIRCUSES, I have no doubt, are still as good as they were, although I don't suppose there are as many of them; yet I cannot feel that any will ever be quite so good as those I saw in childhood. Yet children now have other outlets. Lieutenant-Commander Peter Scott, son of the Antarctic explorer, who opened an exhibition of equipment used in South Polar surveys in London recently, said that he got three or four letters a day from young people in Britain wishing to take part in polar expeditions.

Not all of the young would-be explorers can satisfy their ambitions for adventure as some schoolboys from Britain do each year, by exploring in places like Lapland or Newfoundland.

AND YET BOYS in London who join the Sea Scouts can go a long way towards equipping themselves for such adventure. In their ship, Discovery, anchored in the Thames, in which the explorer, Captain Scott, sailed to the Antarctic and in which is housed the exhibition just opened by his son, they have most of the relics and records of Scott's last expedition. The passer-by often sees the boys running barefoot about the ship in the coldest weather and struggling manfully in whaling boats on the waters of the river. And when the exhibition of polar equipment was opened on their ship some of these same Sea Scouts were photographed for the papers in white polar dress in the company, not only of Lieutenant-Commander Scott, but of a genuine polar penguin too—an experience which would more than make up, to most boys, for all the circuses their fathers knew.

The game is not worth the candle—French banker Andre Istel, on private international finance.

The Last Piece Of The Set

The One Who Repenteth

By JOSEPH LISTER RUTLEDGE

ANY SORT of ban tends to become rigid and, being rigid, to defeat its own purpose. We can't deprive someone of liberty without lessening the liberty in the world and so deprecating our own. We can't be bigoted without our bigotry materializing in the mass irresponsibility and mass hysteria that are the forebears of anarchy.

DESTRUCTIVE COURSES We do not want to set bans. We do not want to exclude, but it is easy to permit oppositions to this or that way of thinking to lead us into courses that are destructive of our own best interests.

We have not yet gone as far as the United States in banning from our shores any individual who "is, or ever was a member of the communist party." We have seen, however, recent happenings that are of a piece with such exclusive thinking. The United States Immigration Department, which adopted this policy, has been in difficulty more than once, even with Canadian citizens, in its efforts to sustain it, while the net benefits are of dubious value.

The dangerous communist—the one who would seek entry with the intent of undermining government by force, or encouraging others to do it, is not likely to enter this or any other country under his true colors. He is not likely to boggle over the, to him, small matter of outwardly denying his allegiance, in order to further his cause.

OUTSIDE WORKERS

The policy of infiltration has been carried forward largely by men who, for strategic reasons, remained outside the party organization.

It is difficult then to exclude those actively interested in undermining government. But when you undertake to shut out those who "ever were" members of the party, you include a great many European intellectuals who thought they saw a world of hope in a new doctrine.

You exclude those who accepted communism as the one force capable of combating fascism. They were to learn to their sorrow that in a choice between two such evils liberty went by the board. Such disillusioned individuals, whom such a law would shut out, are the greatest challenge to communist views. They have tried them, and have found themselves betrayed.

MORE JOY

Surely the reformed communist should be welcomed anywhere, else there is little point in the words of Holy Writ: "There is more joy in Heaven over one sinner who repenteth, than in ninety and nine just men who need no repentance."

One Man's Practical Effort

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

AN AMERICAN, Clifford Clinton, has got down to solving the problem of world food shortage on his own by inventing a 3-cent meal which he believes will be the spearhead in man's fight against hunger. Clinton's mother, Gertrude Hall, was one of the early philanthropists of Los Angeles, and his father established the first cafeteria in San Francisco. They were both captains in the Salvation Army. Their business prospered and they took generous amounts of profit, which they spent in setting up their personal mission work in China.

Twice their business in California

Now one of Clifford Clinton's dreams is to see that everybody in the world is well nourished. He enlisted the interest of a first-rate scientist, Dr. Henry Borsook, who took the soybean, that prime source of protein for many millions in Asia, and from it developed a food that, when produced in quantities, costs only three cents for a nourishing meal. In 1946 Clifford Clinton set up his non-profit Meals for Millions Foundation, "dedicated to the prevention of starvation."

The American people were invited to participate by contributions to the experiment, and membership fees eventually made it possible to distribute more than 15 million meals of Multi-Purpose Food through relief agencies operating in 60 countries.

The foregoing is but a rough sketch of this private enterprise in humanitarian service. The story of Clifford Clinton's remarkable achievements in business and philanthropy is told at length by Mrs. Pearl Buck, the novelist, in the December issue of the United Nations World.

SERIOUS THOUGHT

Nonetheless, the parking problem really calls for some serious thought. Perhaps more than thought, it calls for enough flexibility to adapt ourselves to common-sense adjustments.

There are plenty of solutions to the parking problem; the only trouble is that none of them assures us a spot in front of our favorite drugstore at the moment we want to stop for an ice cream soda.

SOYBEAN MEALS

Now one of Clifford Clinton's dreams is to see that everybody in the world is well nourished. He enlisted the interest of a first-rate scientist, Dr. Henry Borsook, who took the soybean, that prime source of protein for many millions in Asia, and from it developed a food that, when produced in quantities, costs only three cents for a nourishing meal. In 1946 Clifford Clinton set up his non-profit Meals for Millions Foundation, "dedicated to the prevention of starvation."

SIXTY COUNTRIES

The American people were invited to participate by contributions to the experiment, and membership fees eventually made it possible to distribute more than 15 million meals of Multi-Purpose Food through relief agencies operating in 60 countries.

The foregoing is but a rough sketch of this private enterprise in humanitarian service. The story of Clifford Clinton's remarkable achievements in business and philanthropy is told at length by Mrs. Pearl Buck, the novelist, in the December issue of the United Nations World.

GOOD DEMOCRACY

"Clifford Clinton," she says,

"has done many extraordinary things, but the production of the Multi-Purpose Food is the most timely and most significant at this stage of world history. It does not answer the whole need of the world's hungry, of course. Nothing short of a sensibly-organized distribution of the world's food supply and improvement in world agriculture will do that. With 80 per cent of the world's population so hungry that it constitutes a daily threat to our democratic way of life, and a block to recovery, Clinton believes it is good business as well as good democracy to provide such self-help."

Building With Spoons

Financial Post

Union bricklayers in central Canada on straight wall work—when they're in good weather and in a good mood—are laying around 650 bricks a day. Some do 350, some 800. On one thing contractors are agreed: This is about half the work done 15 years ago.

Now, an inventor comes along with a gadget which enables a bricklayer to do the job about two and a half times faster. The unions prohibit their men having anything to do with it.

TRAGIC DELUSION

The make-work, stretch-the-work-gospel is a tragic delusion which helps keep poor the very people who think it helps them.

If the stretch-the-work theory were sound, the richest workers in the world would have been the people who, with manpower alone, built the pyramids. Under that theory, we should build the Trans-Canada highway with teaspoons.

THE BLUNT STATEMENT by

United States Secretary of State Acheson before the National Press Club in Washington regarding Russian territorial expansion in the Asiatic theatre presents a grim picture to opponents of communism but it has the virtue of helping clarify a muddy situation.

Acheson accuses Russia of dismembering northern China and being in process of absorbing it into the Soviet Union. He says the detachment of provinces is complete in Outer Mongolia and is almost complete in Sinkiang. Inner Mongolia and Szechuan province apparently are being processed.

Well, this column certainly can't argue against that. I've called attention to this trend persistently, especially to the absorption of the rich and strategic state of Manchuria. Possession of this country gives Russia one of the most dominant positions in the Far East.

Indeed, Acheson says that Russia's designs on Manchuria are "a single most important fact" in the Far Eastern picture.

THE OLD STORY

What is the significance of these Soviet tactics? The answer to that also is clear. It means the Russian offensive in the Orient is more than a political drive. It is aggression aimed at the expansion of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

What's new or strange about that? Not a thing. It is precisely what has been going on in eastern Europe.

Moscow never has concealed her light under a bushel. The objectives of the Soviet revolution for the spread of communism have been made perfectly plain. The goal is to create a Communist world state—one world—one Red world.

So we see Russia in process of absorbing Chinese territory. The areas thus far most concerned (Manchuria, Outer Mongolia, Inner Mongolia and Sinkiang) form a huge, solid bloc whose northern frontier contacts Russian territory all the way.

UNIVERSITY EDUCATION

John Connell

In the BBC London Letter "I know that I'm a heretic according to the most widely accepted modern educational theories; but I hold obstinately to the faith that education—most especially University education—is for the full and happy and harmonious life, not for the narrow and (I agree) most necessary, grove of it which is concerned with earning a living."

SUBSIDIZING IMMIGRANTS

Edmonton Bulletin

Ottawa reports that consideration is being given by the federal government to the possibility of subsidizing immigrants to this country from the United Kingdom.

One proposal, it is said, is a form of loan to immigrants equal to the amount they can withdraw from the U.K. in a four-year period. At present each settler can only take out of Britain some $70 a year.

This financial restriction is one of the reasons why the migrant flow from Britain to Canada has fallen off so seriously.

RIVALS ORIENT

Edmonton Journal

We hear a great deal these days about the fantastic increase of population in some crowded Oriental countries, but it looks as though the United States is running them a close second. The census bureau at Washington estimated last week that, as of November 1, the U.S. population had reached 150,183,000. In the 1940 census, the figure was 131,669,000; so there has been an increase of almost 20,000,000—15 per cent—in less than a decade.

TOO REALISTIC

New York Times

The children's world of books is a wonderful world. It has a variety of enchantment: the flashing silver skates of Hans Brinker, Jack's tall beanstalk and a crocodile with a clock ticking away inside his stomach.

Happily the people in these books are real people to the children. It's so much better that way. Grown-ups are doubters and disbelievers. Books are books to grown-ups, something quite apart from the facts of life. But the land that the child finds in his books is real. And the child, through his books, can live in a happy and exciting land and meet heroes and princes and fierce pirates. There are also animals who talk with a naturalness that a grown-up could never understand.

10,500 British Deserters Beyond Reach Of Courts-Martial

LONDON (CP)—Officers of the navy, army and R.A.F. police services have completed a new year list of 10,500 deserters who cannot be court-martialed.

They are men of the three services who fled to Eire, now the Republic of Ireland, when absent without leave and have stayed there.

Present addresses of many of them are known, but they are safe from arrest and punishment so long as they do not return to Britain.

The army lists a total of 12,300 deserters. The R.A.F. total is 4,270. Deserters from the Royal Navy number 3,100. Twelve thousand six hundred of them are in the Republic of Ireland.

In addition there are at least another 1,000 deserters—the majority from the army—living in Italy, France and Belgium.

BEING TRACED
"The number remaining in Britain is no more than 8,000, including a few service women," a War Office official said. "They are gradually being traced."

The R.A.F. has issued a list of forthcoming courts-martial dealing with cases of alleged desertion. At West Drayton, Middlesex, recently William Alexander Hayes, 42, was charged with the record number of 24 years' desertion, but the charged were dropped last week.

Hayes, the father of three children, joined the R.A.F. when he was 18 and "went missing" three months later. During the war he worked in an air raid rescue team. He went back into uniform four weeks ago and now has been given a discharge certificate which said his character was "very good."

AMNESTY DISCUSSION
There has been much controversy in national newspapers over the question of an amnesty.

L. A. Jarvis, a former naval man writing to the Daily Mirror, noted that in Canada an amnesty for deserting from national service was granted "almost immediately the war ended."

While many former servicemen strenuously objected to pardoning deserters, a former R.A.F. flier said:

"There is obviously no sense in having these outlaws roaming the country. They are hunted men and many of them, otherwise decent fellows, are forced to engage in crime or legal evasion in order to live."

Approximately $500 damage was done to two vehicles driven by East Indians Saturday afternoon in a collision at Nanaimo and Market Streets, city police reported. Officers said that about $450 damage was done to the car driven by Sarbans Singh, 779 Market Street. Other vehicle involved was driven by Jai Singh, 2814 Nanaimo Street.

In city police court Saturday, Magistrate H. C. Hall dismissed a charge of assault, occasioning actual bodily harm, against three young men. They were charged with assaulting and injuring Edward Mullard, 225 Henry Street. The accused were Edward Campbell, Burrage Road; Conrad Carter, 714 Kings Road, and John Collyer, 1829 Lillian Road.

London Receives Tall B.C. Flagpole

LONDON (CP)—A giant Douglas fir, gift of British Columbia to the London County Council, was unloaded Sunday from a ship in the Thames and will eventually become a flagpole near the County Hall.

The pole, 108 feet long with a diameter of 37 inches at the butt and 19 inches at the top, weighs six tons and contains 461 cubic feet of timber.

A County Council official who attended the small unloading ceremony said the tree "is regarded as a kind gift of the British Columbia government."

There will be an official ceremony when the flag pole is eventually raised.

One-Fourth Of World Has Barriers To Free Flow Of News

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

New barriers to the free flow of news have been erected during the last six months, and no major barriers have come down.

A survey by the Associated Press shows more than one-fourth of the world's populated area has censorship or other restraints that prevent the free flow of news.

Here are highlights of the AP survey on conditions in various areas:

CENTRAL EUROPE

Censorship has been relaxed slightly in Greece. There are no restrictions on outgoing copy, but the domestic press still is under the eye of the government.

In Germany, few restrictions are imposed by the western occupation powers. Papers in eastern Germany, Russian-controlled, generally are restricted to the use of Russian-backed news agencies.

Spain's newspaper men consider themselves virtually in the class of civil servants.

In Yugoslavia, the press is government-controlled.

IRON CURTAIN COUNTRIES

In the Soviet Union censorship has grown more severe during the last six months. Western correspondents in Moscow find it impossible to send out news unfavorable to the Stalin regime. Newspapers, magazines and radio stations all are under government control.

Poland in October issued a decree providing prison terms for any persons "divulging information which in the interests of the People's Poland should be kept secret."

The decree's broad provisions can be construed in any way the government desires. Czechoslovakia, this month expelled four western correspondents, halving the number of western press representatives in Prague. The government accused them of writing "un-objective" news.

Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania carefully screen foreign correspondents. The domestic press is under strict control.

EASTERN ASIA

The Communist regime of China has restricted news coverage to reporters from countries recognizing it.

Japan has no censorship on foreign correspondents. In Burma newspapers must deposit money as security against publication of reports unfavorable to the government.

The new constitution of the United States of Indonesia guarantees freedom of the press, but the country is under martial law.

MIDDLE EAST

Censorship in Egypt has been severe. Nothing considered detrimental to Egypt is passed.

On British-controlled Cyprus the editor of a nationalist newspaper was ordered deported for writing an anti-British editorial. British occupation authorities in Eritrea warned editors against attacking the government.

Censorship continues in Israel.

SOUTH AFRICA

In November, a South African government official told foreign correspondents in effect that their reports would be censored if they were unfavorable.

SOUTH AMERICA

The Inter-American Press Congress, meeting at Quito, Ecuador, in July, received a report that freedom of the press is limited in many Latin-American countries. The report noted "specific cases of police censorship and postal hindrances" in Argentina.

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne, Pimples. Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoid." Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment. Tinoid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, 75c.

Name 'Reilly' As In 'Life Of Riley' Puzzles Priestley

LONDON (AP)—"Who was Reilly?" Hundreds of mystified Britons asked that question after author J. B. Priestley had used the phrase "Life of Reilly" on a BBC broadcast Saturday night. The expression, commonplace to most Canadians and Americans, is not explained by the Encyclopedia Britannica or the Oxford English Dictionary. Priestley himself said he had used it for years but not only didn't know the origin, he wasn't even sure of how to spell the name.

"I think it is Irish-American in origin, but I don't know and I never know whether to spell it Reilly or Riley. Anyway it means to live well and with every comfort."

In his script, Priestley spelled it "Reilly."

Byrton Stevenson's "Home Book of Quotations" says the origin of the phrase "the life of Riley" has not been found.

"It perhaps originated from the song, 'Is That Mr. Riley?' popular in the '90s," Stevenson's work says.

But Stevenson's appendix, listing the song as appearing in 1883, gives the title as "Is That Mr. Reilly?"

Oregonian Reveals Clash With M-F Store

an unprecedented front-page announcement, the Oregonian Saturday bared a controversy with its largest advertiser.

News freedom was the implied issue.

The newspaper said the Meier & Frank Department Store canceled many pages of advertising after the Oregonian had published a National Labor Relations Board decision holding the store guilty of unfair labor practices.

Others had reported the advertising curtailment earlier, but the newspaper would not confirm it until Saturday.

"As a matter of traditional policy, the Oregonian strives to report the news completely, impartially and without fear or favor. The Oregonian will continue to do so," said the statement. It was signed by M. J. Frey, general manager of the Oregonian.

The statement added that Meier & Frank had not given any reason for the cancellation of advertising. Aaron Frank, president of the Meier & Frank Company, has denied that the cancellation was due to the news story.

Nationalization Doesn't Work, Say Many In Britain

The crucial British general election set for Feb. 23 poses the question: What does the average British worker and consumer think about public ownership of industry and the welfare state after nearly five years of Labor government? Edwin Shanke of the A.P. London bureau reports how nationalization is working out in this article.

LONDON (AP)—If you tackle the ordinary British consumer about nationalization, he'll probably reply:

"Nationalization? Sure it seems okay as a doctrine, but blimey, it doesn't work. I'm paying more for my coal, gas and electricity since the state took over."

It's almost the stock reply. From the consumer's point of view not much has changed—except prices.

He doesn't pay much attention to official explanations that coal production costs, like everything else, are higher and that this in turn affects the price of his state-run gas and electricity. Or that coal costs more partly because freight and handling charges have gone up on the nationalized railways.

WAGES HIGHER

As for working conditions, the lot of most miners and of employees in some other industries is better. Wages are higher since nationalization. Where pay boosts weren't negotiated under public ownership the state has honored wage increases the men won from private hands.

The Labor government so far has taken over coal, inland transport, including the railways, canals and long-distance trucking, the airlines, gas, electricity, communications and the Bank of England.

It's human nature, once a citizen has acquired what he considers a proprietary interest in a business, to be freer with his criticism.

The railways, for example, get complaints about trains arriving in London up to half an hour late.

"It's the poor coal we get," is the official railway executive explanation.

The housewife complains about the high price of coal knocking her budget for a loop.

"It's the high cost of transport that brings the price up," say the coal officials.

But the housewife is becoming more and more worried by the mounting cost of living. And she isn't comforted by the advocate of nationalization who tells her things might have been worse—coal might have been scarcer, rail fares and other prices might have been even higher.

Most consumers seem satisfied with the electricity and gas service. It's the rising prices that upset them.

They're paying about 80 per cent more for a ton of coal than before the war. Railway fares and gas prices have gone up sharply since 1938. The price of electricity for lighting was less than the 1938 average at the end of 1948 but since then there has been a boost in rates. Weekly pay packets in the same span have risen some 80 per cent.

About 21 per cent, or more than 4,600,000 of Britain's tolling 22,000,000 men and women, now are government employees.

Rescued Fishermen Near Point Of Death When Found By Ship

NAMU, B.C. (CP)—"Thank God. We couldn't have lasted another night," one of three B.C. fishermen said as they were helped aboard a search boat Saturday after 72 freezing hours on the shore of a lonely fiord.

"The cold was slowly getting us," said George Robson, who, with Leonard Crowe and Marshall Cole, abandoned his gill-netter in Burke Channel after a howling gale almost rolled the ice-coated vessel over.

The men battled death from freezing in eight-below-zero weather without food or shelter for three days and nights.

Saturday, the heavy whaling boat Tahsis Chief was able to force her way through the ice and into the channel 300 miles north of Vancouver, where the three men were found.

The trio now is recovering from exposure here. They left Bella Coola, 300 miles north of Vancouver, to come to Namu Jan. 6, a distance of 90 miles.

"The first night ashore wasn't too bad," they said, "but we couldn't sleep for cold. The second day we started for Namu overland. We figured we would be missed and someone would search for us, so we kept to the shore line of the inlet."

"We knew we had to keep moving or freeze, so we stumbled on. The second night was tough, we were tired, but afraid to go to sleep or else we might not wake again."

They said they saw R.C.A.F. search planes but were unable to signal them.

The 140-foot Tahsis Chief, called into the search, was able to make her way up the icy channel and located the freezing trio.

PO. James Billinge Takes Bride To Seattle Home

Petty Officer James Leonard Billinge, United States Coast Guard, and Shirley "Vicki" Palmer were principals in an early evening, candlelight wedding service Saturday.

The couple left for the mainland, following their exchange of wedding vows and rings, and will leave in Washington prior to making their home in Seattle.

St. John's Anglican Church was decorated with tall standards of chrysanthemums for the ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William David Palmer, 2817 Colquitz Avenue, and son of Mrs. Gladys Billinge, who came from Port Angeles for the occasion, and the late L. G. Billinge.

Canon George Biddle read the service.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore traditional satin fashioned with graceful train and misted with folds of veiling cascading from a circlet of orange blossoms.

An orchid, which later complemented her traveling suit, was

Royal Bride, I.O.D.E., Reports Activities

It was noted that $51 has been realized from sale of Christmas cards; that $57 was spent for Christmas cheer to assist needy families and the sick; two boxes of oranges and seven dozen cookies delivered to adopted school at Cobble Hill; a party and dance was held for Air Cadets in conjunction with the Kinsmen Club when films were shown and refreshments served by members of the chapter.

Educational convener, Mrs. Peggy Freethy, reported $50 spent on education, and noted that albums of music will be presented to Belmont High School.

Members decided to hold their annual meeting and dinner, in charge of Mrs. Percy Sands, on Feb. 9, in Century Room, The Monterey.

Three Maids Attend Bride Sylvia Gwendolyn Hawkins

A trio of maids in pastel-toned gowns were in the bridal entourage of Sylvia Gwendolyn Jean Hawkins when she entered Centennial United Church Saturday evening at 8 to become the bride of Robert James Caley.

The bride, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George O. Hawkins, 2624 Fernwood Road, and groom, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Caley, 958 Wollaston Street, spoke their vows before Rev. W. R. Ashford.

Opalescent satin was selected by the bride for her portrait gown with sweetheart neckline, sleeves in lily point mode and full gathered skirt, slightly on train. A tiara headdress crowned her illusion fingertip veil, and she wore a pearl necklace as her only jewelry.

Her bouquet was deep red roses and freesias with fluffy points of white French mallow completed with long streamers knotted with red roses.

Attendants three wore cap-sleeved gowns styled similarly to the bride's model: Miss Geraldine Skinner, maid of honor in turquoise; Miss Evelyn Ball, bridesmaid, in pink satin and flower maid, little Joyce Merton, cousin of the bride, in palest of green.

Round bouquets of spray chrysanthemums, in mauve and pink and in pale yellow were carried by senior attendants, and the flower girl held a Colonial bouquet of pink carnations and blue hyacinths. All wore bandeaux of harmonizing flowers.

James Smith waited at the chancel rail as best man and ushers were Owen Hawkins, brother of the bride, and William Dingley. Miss Betty George sang "Because," while the bride and groom signed the register.

Rose Room at Terry's was the scene of the reception where Mrs. Hawkins and Mrs. Caley assisted the couple in receiving guests. A three-tier cake, flanked by white candles and flowers formed the centre-piece. Toast to the bride was given by Harold Stevenson.

For the wedding trip to the mainland, the bride changed to a wine-toned afternoon dress, topcoat of green, styled with squirrel-trimmed cape, matching green hat, and white and brown accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of feathered carnations and hyacinths.

Mr. and Mrs. Caley will return to Victoria to make their home.

Exchange Wedding Rings

Miss Sheila Rosemary Newton and John Roland Reynolds, Chatham, Ont., exchanged nuptial vows Saturday evening in a double ceremony with Rev. W. W. McPherson officiating, in the vestry of Oak Bay United Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Newton, 1020 Redfern Street, wore a queen's blue velvet suit fashioned with fitted jacket topped with Peter Pan collar, and full skirt.

Her navy blue model hat was trimmed with ostrich plumes and she wore matching accessories. White gardenias and freesias in corsage, and silver locket, gift of the groom, completed her ensemble.

For the honeymoon trip, the bride added a matching blue topcoat, navy handbag and white gloves.

Her only attendant was Miss Pat Smith. With her wine velvet suit Miss Smith wore matching hat and corsage bouquet of yellow roses.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Reynolds, Chatham, Ont., chose Bruce Newton, brother of the bride, as best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, where the couple cut their three-tier wedding cake. White tapers and crystal holders, yellow daffodils and snowdrops decorated the table. A close family friend, J. Bayliss proposed the toast to the bride.

The couple left for the mainland on honeymoon and will return to Victoria to make their home.

Parents Share Responsibility For Youth, Says New Director

TORONTO (CP)—What's wrong with those often-precocious little darlings of today—children?

"Parents!" says Muriel Upchurch, Regina-born expert in child study and newly-appointed national director of the Canadian Junior Red Cross.

"By parents, I don't blame individual parents of isolated children," she explained in an interview, "but all parents—persons whom, for the sake of their own children, should share full responsibility for the younger generation of their community. "Our adult society appears to have forgotten that its chief obligation in life is training the young, in making a home suitable to the needs of youth, in shaping the community resources to meet those needs and in safeguarding and improving the educational system to which its children are to be entrusted."

King, "Brown Owl" of the new Brownie Pack, also reported. Rev. James Hill, D.D., was a special guest.

Miss Upchurch, who holds a master's degree in education and child study from Smith College, Mass., taught school for 12 years in Saskatchewan, and has devoted 18 years to the study of youth education.

She would like to see more emphasis placed on homemaking and child raising for students of both sexes in second school education.

"Parents too can help fit their children for future parenthood by making them citizens of the family at an early age, sharing the duties, pleasures and responsibilities of the household," Miss Upchurch believes.

As national director, she succeeds Miss Jean E. Browne who retired after 28 years. The organization unites some 900,000 Canadian school children in work for health, good citizenship and international friendliness.

New Brunswick Council Of Women Commends CBC, Urges New Lines Of Development

FREDERICTON (CP)—The New Brunswick Provincial Council of Women today commended Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for "excellent work it has done in the shaping of the consciousness of Canadian nationhood in the minds of its listeners."

In a brief presented to the Royal Commission on Arts and Sciences, the council said that,
in radio and television, it felt
the present policy of a public corporation, with provision for local private stations, should be continued.

We heartily endorse the encouragement by the CBC of Canadian music, drama, discussion and criticism. We strongly urge any measures which could be undertaken for the achievement of still greater distinction in these fields.

PRESENT BRIEF

In a brief presented to the Royal Commission on Arts and Sciences, the council said that,
in radio and television, it felt
the present policy of a public corporation, with provision for local private stations, should be continued.

The council suggested several lines on which it felt there might be more development:

Lecture-recitals by Canadian and other composers and performers.

Broadcasts and discussion of folk music.

Musical programs from communities to encourage development of music locally.

Broadcasts of music festivals.

Talks by or about contemporary artists, painters, poets, scientists, writers.

Programs designed to interest and stimulate teen-agers, such as discussion of books, hobbies, care of pets, drama.

SUGGEST PROGRAM

Programs for children which have distinguished children's literature as their basis—"at the present there is, we feel, too much ad-libbing of the classics and too many trifling original stories."

Inclusion of more programs of interest to "intelligent women" in the morning listening hours.
Suggested were book reviews, increased time for women commentators, broadcasts by professional women.

The council said it deplored
"the large amount of time devoted to the so-called soap operas, with their tiresome and per-fetched advertising, their unfortunate views of life, and their stress of neurotic and over-emotional elements."

"These we would like to see replaced by stories suited to normal, healthy living, stories which treat of Canadian conditions, make use of authentic background and bring in Canadian place names."

Today's Recipe

STUFFED FLANK STEAK

One beef flank steak, 1/2-cup chopped celery and leaves, 1 small onion, chopped; 4 tablespoons fat, 1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs, salt and pepper to taste, 1 cup water.

Use one large or two small flank steaks. Sauté the celery and the onion in two tablespoons fat for a few minutes. Add the bread crumbs and season with salt and pepper. Pound and flatten steak. Spread with dressing and, beginning at one side of the steak, roll up like a jelly roll and tie securely in several places with string. Brown in the other two tablespoons fat in a frying pan or roasting pan on top of the stove, turning the meat until it is browned on all sides. Slip a rack under the meat, add water, cover closely and bake in a moderate oven, 325-350 degrees F., 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Use dripping in pan to make a rich brown gravy.
Yield: 5 to 6 servings.

Cultural Program — XI Beta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, meeting was held with the president, Mrs. Winnie Ward-man, in the chair. Following a brief business meeting the cultural program on various countries was taken over by Miss Muriel Knight, program chairman. Miss Mildred Blakely, retired American missionary, who spent 35 years in the Philippines, was guest speaker. A native costume was shown, modeled by one of the members, Mrs. Edna Rix. Next meeting will be held in the club rooms

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

THREATS ARE USELESS TO CONTROL CHILD

Threats, threats, threats! No wonder children grow deaf to them. They swarm about them like bees and chiefly they are all buzz and no sting.

A child of six reached toward a lamp in a doctor's office and said, "I am going to turn off the light." Quick as a flash his slightly-older sister said, "If you do, I'll spank you."

Now where did she hear that?
No doubt, that's the way her mother attempts to keep these children in line. "Don't do it, or I'll spank you!"

If a parent fulfilled all of these idle threats she would do little else. Children are always getting into mischief and misbehaving.
Sometimes it is better to ignore it, if no harm is done. Had the small boy turned off the light he would have turned it on again quickly and no one would have been the worse for it.

Children need to be told—and they are—what is forbidden, and they know as well as the parents when they have acted wrongly.
If they have and the action merits punishment, then punish.
If it doesn't, ignore it. Threatening them to prevent misbehavior only incites them to test the parent's tolerance for misbehavior. They keep acting worse and worse, trying to discover at what point she will break down.

and actually do as she said she would. Nothing could be worse from the standpoint of good behavior or the parent's role in it.

If a parent says, "Please don't do that," she is asking a favor and she may feel sorry if a child fails to grant it. If she says,
"You may not do that," then obviously the child may not, if his parent really means what she says. She doesn't have to erect the barb wire fence of a threat, if the child knows the parent means what she says, then he will know that he may not do this particular thing.

Parents do so much useless talking. And words are helpless to control a child. A child is controlled by acts. And the acts do not have to be advertised in advance. He has only to know that when a thing is wrong he is prevented from doing it; and quite often that is punishment enough. Just the prevention.

If the parent has threatened no other punishment, she is a free agent. She can act as she pleases. Once she utters a threat she is duty bound to fulfill it—which she may not wish to do—or she has undermined her authorities and nullified all future threats.

able Punishments," may be had dressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix: Our fathers and mothers do not allow us to go out with boys, but last weekend when they were away we had a wild party. We were drunk and did not know what we were doing. Please, please tell us what to do. We dare not tell our mothers.

TWO FRIGHTENED GIRLS.
Answer: Take your courage in both hands, girls, and go at once to your mothers and make a full confession of your folly. It is your only salvation.

Don't go to strangers for help.
Don't tell your secret to other girls or to people you may find easy to confide in. Tell it to your mothers, no matter how silly or indiscreet or wrong you have been. They will forgive you and help you.

Sleigh Rides Once Popular Pastime In Old Victoria

You have a golden opportunity today to go "jingling" all the way to Mount Douglas and back in an old-fashioned sleigh—an opportunity which only comes about every 25 years.

The roads are ideal for an ice-sleigh and with the weatherman predicting more snow you won't have any difficulty driving anywhere in and around the city. And if there is a good fall of snow within the next 24 hours you may find the old rig handy in getting down to work.

The first step to enjoying a sleigh ride is to find one in Victoria. If you look hard enough you may find grandpa's sleigh tucked away in the shed, which is now used to store old furniture and odd bits and ends which have gone out of fashion.

Then, of course, there is the problem of finding a horse. The rest is easy and lots of fun.

There are many people in Victoria today who remember going on sleigh rides in past years, when snow fell heavily in Victoria. Beacon Hill Park, Mount Douglas and Mount Tolmie were the favorite haunts of the horse and sleigh enthusiasts.

The last time the horse and sleigh became of great use in Victoria was during the 1916 snowstorm which clogged every street in Victoria and paralyzed all other modes of traffic. One of the old-timers who rented out horse sleighs was Sam Eastman. He owned several types of sleighs and used to drive people around Beacon Hill Park. His daughter, Mrs. M. E. Salt, a judge's stenographer at the courthouse still remembers vividly

the horse and sleigh days. Mrs. Salt still owns one of her father's sleighs, equipped with bells and fur robes.

Lumber Industry Must Look To U.S.

OTTAWA (BUP) — Canadian lumber producers, whose British market has been curtailed by the dollar shortage, should turn towards the United States, the Trade Department said at the week-end.

"The prospective demand for lumber in the United States this year appears favorable, and indications point to a continuation of the firm conditions in the market during the last quarter of 1949," the department said.

"Taking these signs of a strong market into consideration, Canadian lumber shippers should have confidence in their ability to participate substantially in the United States market during the year," it added.

The department conceded that the prosperity of the Canadian lumber industry was closely linked with markets in the United Kingdom and the United States. There was increasing dependence on the U.S. markets, the department said.

Handling Wildlife Extension Address

DR. I. McTAGGART COWAN

Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan, Canada's leading authority on wildlife conservation, will address a Victoria Extension audience this evening at 8.15 in the Victoria College-Normal School auditorium. His topic is "Wildlife Management."

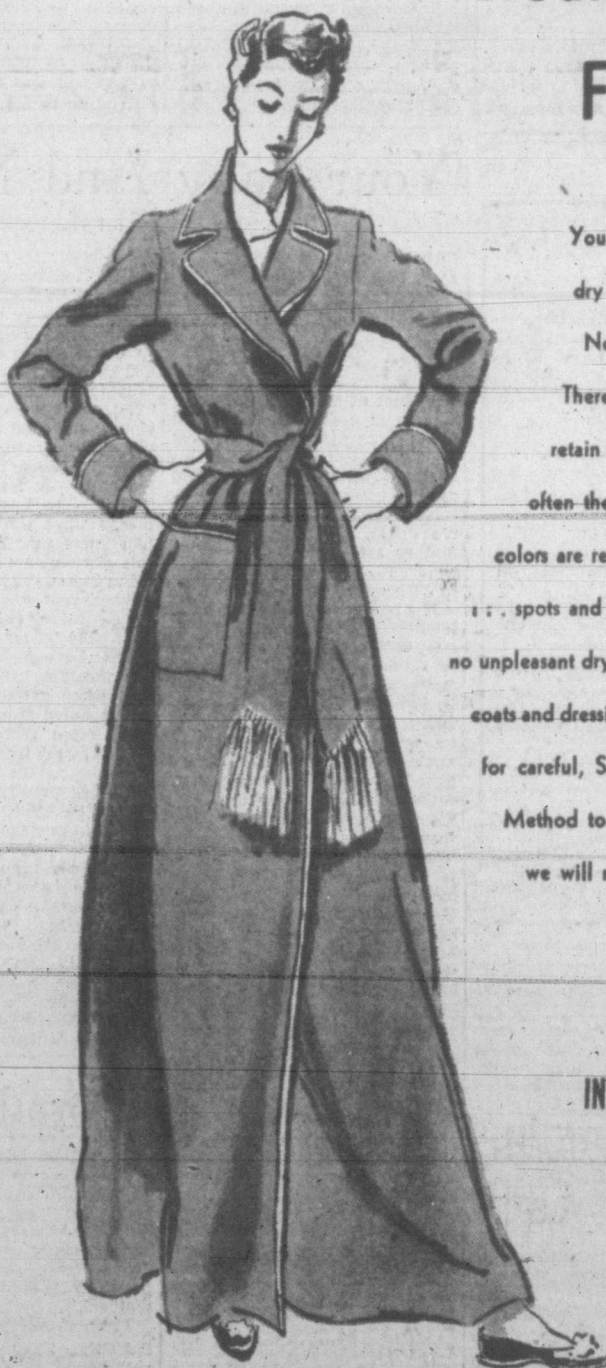

Dr. Cowan received his B.A. from U.B.C. and his Ph.D. from the University of California. In 1940 he became assistant professor in the department of zoology at U.B.C.

At present he is professor of vertebrate zoology at U.B.C. His work in wildlife research has carried him to eminence on this continent, and the high quality of his teaching has attracted students from far afield, many of whom have graduated into important wildlife positions across the Dominion. His advice is constantly sought by both Dominion and provincial departments.

He is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, wildlife technician for the Canadian National Parks Bureau and the author of more than 50 scientific publications.

His lecture here will be open to the public.

Recapture Pat Bay From 'Enemy' TODAY'S STOCK QUOTATIONS

Officers from mainland regiments disembark from destroyer Cayuga following chilly message from Vancouver Saturday for "Operation Brass Monkey" at Pat Bay airport. Cayuga sailed from here Friday 13 in teeth of gale and in face of sailors' superstitions about sailing on any Friday 13.

Canadian army paratroopers and glider forces "recaptured" Patricia Bay air base from "enemy forces" Sunday . . . in a sandbox.

It was all a mock battle named "Operation Brass Monkey" to familiarize reserve army officers with problems to be encountered in a real, tactical manoeuvre.

The exercise, one known as "tevi" (tactical exercise without troops), set up artillery, patrolled the sea lanes in submarines and sent out patrols in miniature.

Later in the day the officers, who came from the Canadian and Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, the Westminster Regiment and Rocky Mountain Rangers on the mainland, were taken out to the field to see the terrain they had been attacking and have their mistakes pointed out.

Maj. Gen. M. H. S. Penhale, General Officer Commanding, Western Command, flew out from Edmonton to observe the exercise. He said it had been well conceived and well executed. "It was a very good example of how much can be accomplished by reserves," he said.

Alberta Oil Report

Production Increases 9,000 Barrels Daily

CALGARY (BUP)—After several weeks of decline, Alberta oil production is reported up again.

The Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board reports that in the week ended Jan. 9, production was up more than 9,000 barrels daily compared with the previous week.

Average daily crude oil production was 53,748 barrels, compared with 44,517 in the week ended Jan. 2.

Production was up in all of the "Big Three" fields—Leduc, Redwater and Turner Valley.

Here are the figures: At Leduc, 24,273 barrels for the week ended Jan. 9, and 20,157 per day in the week ended Jan. 2.

At Redwater, 15,338 barrels per day, as compared with 11,002.

At Turner Valley, 9,841 as compared with 9,213.

At Lloydminster, it was down —1,741 barrels daily as compared with 2,036.

In the minor fields it was up: 2,555 barrels compared with 2,109.

Seven Crown exploration reservations, totaling just over 608,000 acres, were granted last week by the Alberta government.

A reservation of 200,000 acres, not far from the Alberta-B.C. border, was taken out in the name of Nicholas W. Taylor.

Another reservation of 200,000 acres was granted to Ralph F. Atkinson. Reservations held by Phillips Petroleum, Imperial Oil and the Cities Service-British American team adjoin this 400,000-acre tract to the east and north.

School Activities At Mt. Newton High

The Mount Newton senior soccer team did not appreciate the report from P. Thomas, physical education instructor, that Mount Newton will not be able to enter a team in the Victoria school league. Mount Newton has not been represented in an organized league for four years. Mount Newton and North Saanich High Schools are in different school districts and therefore are unable to enter the Victoria league.

Mount Newton ping-pong enthusiasts have started a ping-pong tournament. Winners of each room will play off and the final winners will play with North Saanich High school students.

Treasure Island was the picture of the week at Mount Newton this past week. Mount Newton has another teacher on the staff, Miss A. Cortus, making the teaching staff 10 strong.

Mrs. Walker, Saanich school nurse, examined pupils of Mount Newton last week and found all in good shape, physically.

C. H. Benell, industrial arts teacher, announced night school started Jan. 8.

The students' council announce a tentative date for their school Valentine dance, Feb. 16.

U.S. Supreme Court To Hear Air Argument

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Supreme Court today formally announced its agreement to review an attack by Colonial Airlines on validity of an aviation agreement with Canada.

The agreement, signed last June 4 by the United States and Canada, gave Trans-Canada Airlines a direct route between Montreal and New York. The Canadian line and Colonial were to have reciprocal operation of the route between the two cities.

LONDON (AP)—Food Minister John Strachey said today the government has "largely overcome" the world food and dollar shortage.

The British people, he said, are eating better now than they did before the Second World War. "Judged by the three most significant indices of nutrition—calories, proteins and fats—we have passed the pre-war levels," Strachey said in a speech to the Fabian Society.

He said the government had attacked the world food shortage by "a very positive policy de-

Wind, Cold Leave Heavy Damage Over Wide Area In U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—The screaming storm which hammered the northern plains, Rocky Mountain and northwest states has veered over into Canada but it left this area of the United States with its worst cold wave of the winter.

At least 42 deaths were attributed to the storm. Nine died in the northwest blizzard, seven in crashes of two small planes in rain and fog, and a woman and her three small daughters in an automobile crash on an icy Michigan highway. Other fatalities were caused by the winds, floods and traffic accidents.

Temperatures were far below normal all the way from the Great Lakes to the Pacific coast, while the remainder of the country generally had seasonal or balmy weather. In the southeast particularly readings were well above normal.

The gales which caused considerable damage along the northern half of the U.S. had abated today. Damage included disabled power lines at Buffalo and Syracuse, N.Y., and losses of hundreds of heads of livestock in the northern plains and Rocky Mountain regions.

Construction Likely Equal Of Last Year

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian construction this year is likely to be of about the same volume as in 1949, which established a record of more than $2,000,000,000.

Allan C. Ross of Ottawa made this prediction today in his presidential address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Construction Association.

And, he added, whereas in 1949 volume has in recent years brought increased costs, the giant 1949 program was carried out without increase.

Lines a direct route between Montreal and New York. The Canadian line and Colonial were to have reciprocal operation of the route between the two cities.

LONDON (AP)—Food Minister John Strachey said today the government has "largely overcome" the world food and dollar shortage.

The British people, he said, are eating better now than they did before the Second World War. "Judged by the three most significant indices of nutrition—calories, proteins and fats—we have passed the pre-war levels," Strachey said in a speech to the Fabian Society.

He said the government had attacked the world food shortage by "a very positive policy designed to stimulate and increase world food production in every possible way."

His main weapon, he said, is bulk buying—a device by which the government purchases food from other countries and parcels it out to wholesalers—and the long-term contract.

Strachey said the Labor government now has "no less than 45 of these arrangements in operation all over the world—and it is my opinion that they have done more than any other single factor to give the overseas producers the necessary confidence to expand their production."

200 Million Dollars Lost Yearly in Canada to Colds

According to recent surveys, colds cause more loss of working time than any other disease. These studies indicate that colds will cost Canadians over $200,000,000 this year in lost wages. It was also found that most of us have between three and four colds a year which cause us to lose a total of more than 50 million working days.

To reduce the misery caused by these colds, more and more Canadian men and women are turning to Vicks VapoRub. They know that VapoRub brings quick, comforting relief from the painful distress of colds.

They know that even as they rub Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest and back that VapoRub's soothing medicinal vapors are penetrating deep into cold-congested bronchial tubes to soothe irritation, relieve annoying congestion and ease coughing spasms. Best of all, VapoRub keeps working for hours—to bring really comfortable relief from the misery of a cold, sore throat or bronchitis. Be sure to keep Vicks VapoRub handy... buy a jar today!

Labor Spokesman Hopes Election Will Settle Old Score With Stalin

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP)—A working-class Welshman who became a power in Britain's Labor Party hopes to settle an old score with Joseph Stalin at next month's general election.

The Welshman is Morgan Phillips, 46, secretary of the Labor Party. Four years ago he headed a five-man British delegation to Russia. In a conversation at the Kremlin, Stalin told him Russia couldn't get excited about British socialism because it wouldn't last.

Stalin said Winston Churchill would soon be back in power. Phillips, organizer of Labor's triumph at the polls in 1945, replied that the Conservatives were finished for at least a decade.

Today, naturally enough, Phillips still thinks he was right and Stalin wrong. It is Phillips' confident prediction that Labor will make it two straight in the Feb. 23 ballot.

"Labor will get a large enough majority to form a government," the former miner said in an interview. "Drop around in a couple of weeks and I'll tell you how many seats we'll win."

His statement may have been less grandiloquent that it sounds. Last time he came within 10 seats of predicting the result correctly.

At a by-election last year in London's Hammersmith South district his guess was right on the nose.

PITBOY IN TEENS

Phillips was born in Aderdare, Wales. He became a pitboy while still in his teens; at 19 he headed a 12-mile march by unemployed miners to obtain food and clothing for their families; at 24 he went to a Labor college with a suit bought, his biographers say, with proceeds of a penny collection among the miners of Rhymney Valley.

Unlike some of his Socialist colleagues, Phillips remembers his early days with little bitterness. He's too busy trying to make sure the party machine doesn't grow stale in the six-week drive to the election.

Auto Workers Want Guaranteed Wages

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—A guaranteed annual wage will be the next objective of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.).

This is the goal after the union achieves its pensions and medical care targets, Walter P. Reuther, international president of the union, told delegates attending a union conference here.

The red-headed union leader was the final speaker at the two-day conference. He officially opened the new $80,000 headquarters building of Local 458, Brantford.

Reuther said democracy had failed in the economic field and so had failed in the political field in many parts of the world.

Canada and the United States, with only 9 per cent of the world's population, had 50 per cent of the world's productive capacity. They must contribute to the solution of problems on an international scale.

A Royal Navy veteran, Samuel Mathier, aged 90, was found dead in his room at 617 Douglas Street on Saturday, city police reported. It is believed he died Friday. Relatives are reported to be living on the Isle of Wight.

There was time for one more prediction: The next election will see the biggest poll in the history of British politics.

Missed Putt On Final Green Costs Snead Tourney Honors

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Favorite Sam Snead missed a crucial putt on the final green and tied three others Sunday in the Bing Crosby invitational golf tournament.

Slammin' Sam reverted to an old and costly habit in missing the putt. That put him into a deadlock at 214 with Dave Douglas, Wilmington, Del.; Smiley Quick, Culver City, Calif.; and Jackie Burke Jr., White Plains, N.Y.

The $10,000 54-hole tournament played over three courses in three days.

Had Snead knocked in the eight-footer on the 18th green at Pebble Beach yesterday, while a gallery running into the thousands looked on, he would have won undisputed first place in crooner Crosby's yearly links classic. But the ball went by the hole and dropped the P.G.A. champion into a four-way tie. The three others in the deadlock had finished their final round earlier.

There will be no playoff. The four leaders will be identified as co-winners of the 1950 Crosby event.

Apprentice Jockey Beats Woman Rider

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico (AP)—An apprentice jockey, billed as a substitute for the great Johnny Longden, Sunday defeated Mrs. Wantha Davis in a match horse race here.

Glen Lasswell, San Ysidro, Calif., youngster, booted Powrie, a five-year-old gelding, home three and a half lengths ahead of Mrs. Davis' Pleezwyne, a four-year-old filly. Time for the six furlongs on the muddy track was 1:12.

Mrs. Davis, a veteran of county fair and bush track riding, defeated Longden in a match race here a month ago.

Knee Injury Forces Wares To Sidelines

Coach Eddie Wares, injured for the third time in four games at New Westminster Saturday night, will be lost to the Cougars for at least four or five days, it was announced by business manager Fred Hutchinson of the club today.

Wares suffered a hemorrhage of the knee when struck by a puck in the second period of the Royals' game. He will enter hospital today to have the knee tapped.

Wares had previously suffered a groin injury at Seattle Jan. 8 and a fractured finger in the Cougars last home game against the New Westminster Royals Jan. 6.

With Wares out of the line-up the Cougars will ice only 14 men for tomorrow night's game with Seattle at the Memorial Arena. Murray Richardson is still out of the line-up with a broken arm and will probably be on the shelf for at least another week or 10 days. He has been working out with the team lately.

The Royals by defeating the Cougars 7 to 5 Saturday, and Seattle 4 to 2 Sunday, increased their northern division lead over the Ironmen to eight points. Meanwhile the Cougars remained in the cellar, one point behind Portland.

Both the Portland-Vancouver and Seattle-Tacoma games sched-

Ocean Falls Wins Swim Tournament

SEATTLE (AP)—The Ocean Falls, B.C., High School swimming team thrashed to victory in the Pacific Northwest amateur swimming tournament at the University of Washington pool Saturday night.

Thirteen teams had been invited. Friday, out-of-town swimmers were told to stay away because of the storm, in case they hadn't left already. Ten teams showed up for the meet. Only teams unable to make it were from Victoria and Salem Y.M.C.A.'s and Aberdeen High School.

Ocean Falls amassed 53 points, more than twice as many as second-place Vancouver, B.C. Amateur Swimming Club collected.

Elaine Silburn Takes Letter-Writing Title

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Canadian athletes, here for next month's Empire Games, spent a quiet week-end, attending a beach picnic Sunday afternoon, where they met a number of New Zealand athletes.

Some joined in an informal football game until a dog bit the ball, bursting the bladder.

Elaine Silburn of Victoria has written 115 letters since leaving home early this month—but is not going to write any more, except to her mother, she says.

Plays Here With Ironmen

When Seattle invades the Memorial Arena tomorrow night for a Coast Hockey League engagement with Victoria Cougars, hard-hitting Doug Maher will be in one of the defence berths for the visitors. Seattle purchased Maher in mid-season from San Diego Skyhawks. Game time will be 8:30.

Brimsek In Sensational Stand For Chicago Club

Frankie Brimsek, veteran goalie from Evelth, Minn., reached into his hockey bag of tricks Sunday night and pulled out one of the neatest chores of netminding seen in the National Hockey League this season.

The 35-year-old Brimsek staved off his old team mates, the Boston Bruins, with a spectacular performance that enabled Chicago Black Hawks to claim a 5 to 1 victory at Boston. The win was Chicago's first in their last six starts.

Meanwhile at New York, the league-leading Detroit Red Wings eked out a 1 to 0 decision over New York Rangers to sweep a week-end home-and-home series with the Blueshirts. The Wings won at home Saturday night, 4 to 2.

The Ranger loss Saturday night and a 3 to 0 victory by Montreal Canadiens over Chicago at Montreal dropped the New York club from second to third place and elevated the Canadiens to the runner-up spot.

Boston, too, lost on Saturday night when they took a 4 to 3 defeat from Toronto Maple Leafs. That defeat vaulted the Leafs into fourth place, one point ahead of the Bruins.

ROBBED OF SHUTOUT

Brimsek was sensational as he turned away 40 Boston shots in the Black Hawks' 5 to 1 victory. The 170-pounder came close to earning a shutout but was robbed early in the middle session when Murray Henderson's shot bounced off Ernie Dickens and into the net behind Brimsek.

Gus Bodnar had put the Hawks one up in the first period before Henderson's lucky goal. Metro Prystai broke the deadlock soon after that. Bill Mosienko, Jim Conacher and Bert Olmstead added insurance goals in the finale.

At New York it appeared as though the game might go to a scoreless draw but Captain Sid Abel, midway through the third period, took Ted Lindsay's pass and slapped it into the corner of the net. The goal judge did not flash the light to indicate a score because he did not think the puck had gone in. But Referee Jim Primeau ruled it was a goal.

A crowd of 15,440 fans watched rookie Terry Sawchuk, called up from Indianapolis to replace the injured Harry Lumley, garner his first big-league shutout in the Detroit goal.

BENTLEY STARS

Saturday night at Toronto it was pivotman Max Bentley who earned most of the plaudits in Leafs' 4 to 3 win over Boston.

Issues Denial

Mrs. C. Bloomfield, secretary-treasurer of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, stated today there had been no reorganization of the original group as announced Saturday.

Mrs. Bloomfield also said that she had already applied for dates for the holding of the annual spring championship two-day shows.

Maroons Take Over Lead In Victoria Junior Ice League

Maroons took over leadership of the Victoria Junior Hockey League Sunday morning by spotting Royals a two-goal lead and then coming from behind for a 6 to 2 triumph.

Chisholm and Derry counted first for the losers with McConechy scoring his first of four goals for the Maroons before the period ended.

Two goals by McConechy and a single tally by Longland put Maroons in a 4 to 2 lead at the end of the second frame. Longland and McConechy scored again in the final stanza.

Play for the Odd Fellows' Trophy will continue Tuesday night following the professional game between Cougars and Seattle Ironmen with Royals meeting Senators.

Arena Usher Attacks Referee At Saskatoon

The weather and a scuffle between a referee and a spectator stole the spotlight from hockey action in two week-end games in the Western Canada Senior Hockey League.

Saskatoon Quakers turned on the power to drub Regina Capitals 6 to 2 in a game which developed into a near-riot in the third period when Referee Stan Swain of Winnipeg was attacked by a Saskatoon arena usher. The triumph gave the third-place Quakers a three-point lead over Caps and boosted the Saskatoon club to within four points of Edmonton Flyers.

The game between Flyers and the league-leading Stampede at Edmonton was postponed when the Calgary team was unable to make a chartered plane flight to the Alberta capital because of fog conditions there.

League president D. P. McDonald of Calgary said "the circumstances in connection with the game and future air travel by clubs will be dealt with" at an executive meeting next Sunday.

The date for the playing of the postponed game also will be fixed at the meeting.

GOAL SPLURGE
After a scoreless first period, Quakers rattled in five goals without a reply in the second session to cakewalk to their victory. Veteran Reg Bentley, and centre Mike Shabaga led the attack with two goals apiece, singletons being netted by Billy Maher and Al Staley, recently released by Caps. Regina goalkeepers were Mel Hill and Toby Brown.

The ice was littered with programs and three or four fans climbed over the boards onto the ice after Referee Swain sent Cy Thomas of Saskatoon off for high-sticking. One of the fans, identified by police as usher George Milne, pinned Swain to the ice. Two policemen finally separated the pair after five minutes of bedlam. Milne was taken into police custody.

Johnson Happy At Outcome Of Constitution Parley

Premier Byron Johnson today expressed satisfaction with the outcome of the Dominion-Provincial Conference on constitutional questions held in Ottawa last week.

The Premier and several other members of the B.C. delegation to the conference returned to Victoria Sunday.

"I think it was a very, very successful conference," said Mr. Johnson, but he added that there were still many hurdles to cross before Canada could build her own constitution.

Mr. Johnson assured that B.C. would proceed immediately with the preparation of her submissions to the continuing committee composed of Justice Minister Garson and the attorneys-general of the 10 Canadian provinces. He expected that another conference would be held, perhaps before fall.

The conference agreed on five categories into which constitutional questions should come. The categories are: Matters which can be undertaken by the Dominion without consulting the provinces; questions of sole provincial jurisdiction; questions concerning the Dominion and one or more, but not all, provinces; questions concerning the federal government and all provinces for which concurrence of a certain proportion of the provinces would be necessary; and finally questions concerning the Dominion and all provinces, to which all 11 Parliaments would have to give approval.

Two of the final categories are expected to fall such questions as those of languages, education and marriage laws.

Mr. Johnson said that agreement on the constitution would require legislation by the provincial Parliament. There appears no likelihood that any of this legislation would come before the forthcoming session of the provincial Legislature which will open Feb. 14.

In all probability it will come before the 1951 session of the Legislature if further progress is made to draw up the constitution.

Appeal Court Sets Vancouver Union Case For Feb. 13

Delay in hearing the appeal of two union officials who were committed for contempt of court was preventing Myron Kuzych of Vancouver from obtaining employment, D. M. Gordon, counsel, told the Appeal Court here today.

Mr. Gordon, speaking on behalf of Kuzych, asked the court to bring the appeal of W. L. White and William Angus Stewart, two officials of the Vancouver Boilermakers' Union, to a head so that his client would know where he stood.

Kuzych was expelled from the Boilermakers' Union and despite a Supreme Court judgment ordering his reinstatement had not yet been admitted into the union.

Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker awarded $5,000 in damages to Kuzych following a civil suit heard in Vancouver Supreme Court. Kuzych claimed he was unlawfully expelled from the union.

The union failed to recognize the court judgment, Mr. Justice Whittaker committed White and Stewart, two union officials, for contempt of court and ordered them held in Oakalla prison.

The two union officials launched an appeal against Mr. Justice Whittaker's judgment and were released from jail pending the hearing of their case.

Chief Justice Gordon M. Sloan said today the court would hear the appeal on Feb. 13. John Farley is counsel for the union.

Manslaughter Case Adjourned To Jan. 24

Preliminary hearing of Donald Pedden, seaman aboard H.M.C.S. Athabaskan, charged with manslaughter, was further adjourned to Jan. 24 when the case was called in city police court today. Some evidence was heard in December.

Charge against Pedden arose from the traffic death of sailor Clarence A. Clarke on Nov. 25. Pedden is alleged to have been driving the jeep which was in collision with Clarke on Douglas Street near Broughton.

The remand was given because the engineer who had drawn a plan of the scene of the accident was unable to be in court owing to illness. Pedden's counsel is James J. Proudfoot.

Cold Weather Keeps Delivery Services Busy In Victoria

Since the cold spell and a blanket of snow settled over Victoria, delivery services have been working over-time delivering groceries and other necessities to city homes.

"People are so busy stoking up their furnaces to ward off the cold that they are ordering their necessities by telephone," said a dealer. "Our delivery trucks are on the go from eight to 12 midnight delivering merchandise."

Some stores have had difficulty in coping with the numerous delivery orders which have come from as far off as Cobble Hill. Despite slippery roads and snow drifts, the trucks were delivering the goods.

Most of the telephone calls were for foodstuffs and hardware. Many people who normally came to town to shop on a cash and carry basis were now opening charge accounts so that they could get their merchandise delivered to their homes.

The heavy cartage business, however, had suffered a setback during the past week because freight was being held up due to snow-clogged railway lines on the mainland.

February Deadline For Certification Of Strawberries

Strawberry plant growers' applications for certification should be in, not later than Feb. 15. W. R. Foster, of the Department of Agriculture announced. Name of the grower, post office address, location of field-road, name of variety, and acreage for certification should be forwarded to either the Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings or to G. E. W. Clarke, District Horticultural Office, Abbotsford.

Main reason for certification is to provide planting stock for use on non-infected lands which have been inspected and found to be apparently free of the bad root disease called red stele. The red stele is the most serious threat at present to the profitable production of strawberries at the coast. For certification, the runners have to be grown on what are called "maiden" plants, that is, plants set out in the spring are allowed to produce runners that season.

The most obvious above-ground symptoms of plants affected by red stele are early spring stunting or dying of the old leaves. The spring leaves on badly infected plants are small and are usually bluish in color. The stunting is more accentuated in the lower levels of the field where the soil remains saturated or flooded several hours after heavy rains. Badly affected plants may produce little or no fruit and many may die. These above-ground symptoms are the result of damage done to the roots.

'State Fair' Tells Romantic Story

Based on Philip Strong's famed novel of the same name "State Fair" came to the screen of the Plaza Theatre today, set to the music of Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II, who thrilled the country with "Oklahoma" and "Carousel."

"State Fair," set against the gay and colorful background of the fair that were the year's high point in all-out fun for millions of Americans before the war, tells the exciting and romantic story of the Frake family who went to the fair in search of love and glory.

Bridge By Wm. E. McKenney

TOO OFTEN BEGINNERS BID NO TRUMP

Today's hand was taken from an interesting article by I. T. Sun in the December issue of The Bridge World, the only national magazine in the United States devoted exclusively to bridge.

Mr. Sun is a member of a well-known Chinese team of four in New York. I like the way he wrote the hand up. He said most run-of-the-mill players do not handle the play of no trump very well, and ironically, the weaker the player, the more no trumps he bids.

Mr. Sun points out that South is not strong enough for a two no trump bid, but he could not resist the temptation. Of course, his partner was justified in taking him to three no trump.

When the six of spades was opened and the dummy went down, the only thing South thought of was that the whole spade suit was going to be run off. He decided he would play a small spade from dummy.

East won with the queen and returned a spade, which West won with the ace. The next spade trick was won by South with the jack and now there was no way to make the contract.

As Mr. Sun points out, declarer has to stake everything on the king of spades. He must go up with it on the first trick. When it holds the trick, the only hope to make the contract is to find East with the king of diamonds.

Here again South has to be careful about the way he plays the diamond suit. If he leads the queen of diamonds, he will still lose the contract. He must lead the nine spot, which East will not cover.

Now he can lead the queen and when East again refuses to cover, he will have the ten to play under the queen. In this way he will make four diamond tricks which, with the other tricks he has, will give him his contract.

An estimated $2,000 damage was done in Friday's storm when it sent a tree crashing into the 1330 Purcell Place home of Cecil Fletcher, the owner has estimated.

I Love My Doctor

By Evelyn Barkins

THE STORY: After our honeymoon, John and I found a small four-room apartment for use as both a home and doctor's office. After reading magazine articles on home decoration, I felt able to do the painting and papering with John's help and found it a disagreeable task. The wallpaper didn't match exactly, and the paint we mixed ourselves was no recognizable shade, but mother said it was a better job than she thought we could do.

CHAPTER EIGHT

PEOPLE LIKE John and me just didn't seem to exist for the editors of the ordinary home furnishings magazines, where pine-paneled dens and mirrored powder rooms are of greater importance than undersized living rooms and dining tables practically in the kitchen sink.

But like everything else, the silver lining to our problem of what to get was our inability to buy it. The essentials, of course, we could manage: bed, chairs, office equipment, et cetera. But much of the rest would have to await a more pecunious day.

But I wanted a painting, a genuine oil painting and I couldn't afford it.

"Make it yourself," John said teasingly. "Isn't that our operating principle?"

"I wish I could," I answered seriously, but truthfully, since unfortunately I am one of those people whose best attempts at drawing make the most extreme modern art look comparatively intelligible.

FIXED THE TEAR

And then one day, when John and I were out walking, we came across a lovely scenic picture marked down to almost nothing. Inquiry explained the miracle as being the result of a big tear in the canvas right across a tremendous tree trunk in the foreground.

"Let's get it," I whispered to John, "and we'll fix it up."

So we bought it and took it home.

"Put adhesive on the back over the damaged part," John advised, and it worked fine. Then I bought some paints and blackened the suture line, brightened up the sky with a little more blue, and stopped there only because John insisted.

"Beautiful," I breathed happily when it was finished, as if I had just been presented with an original Van Gogh.

We had four mahogany and white leather chairs and a red plaster lamp with a white shade in the foyer waiting room and four red leatherette chairs from my Aunt Hilda in the kitchen, and a bed, chest, dresser, two lamps (John's cousin Steve), in the bedroom. The living room was adequately filled with my old tremendous grand piano which my mother had graciously donated, a red velvet couch with twin tables and white lamps from my father and John's famous bookshelves.

But then, everything looked beautiful to me there, until the time when I stood alone waiting for John to come home to spend our first sleeping night. As I waited for his arrival, I was seized with a sudden doubt.

All at once, the fading afternoon light made all the rooms seem gray and dimly dull. The floor coverings under my feet felt unusually thin and hard, and the unmatching strips of paper in the foyer stood out glaringly and ridiculously. I stood at the kitchen window, with the cold bare walls about me, and looked out into the shabby-looking, crowded, noisy street. Where was the beauty now?

"It's poor looking and cheap," I thought. "All our work was just a sham. It's nothing much at all!"

JOHN'S SURPRISE

Just then, I heard John's key in the lock, and I struggled for self-control. But instead of coming straight inside, he called: "Close your eyes, and don't open until I say."

"All right," I called back, glad of the respite.

I stood waiting until he said "Ready," and then went out to where he was. He had lighted the foyer lamp, and its soft shining glow lit up the entire place. There was low, sweet music coming in from the living room, and on the table, beside the lamp, was his Aunt Sarah's bronze bowl filled with a large, glorious, fragrant bunch of the reddest roses I had ever seen.

"For our first official night in our wonderful new home," he said proudly, smiling happily at me, and just like that as I stood beside him, everything was beautiful again.

The path of the novice is always fraught with innumerable pitfalls, which, fortunately, he scarcely ever sees. The armor of youth is ignorance, and the armor of its ambition is inexperience.

Self-confidence rather than knowledge carries the beginner far, and it is not until the pinnacle of success is attained and secured, that the risks, the gaping traps behind him suddenly become apparent. "Lord," he says with proper awe, "how did I ever do it?" And he never really knows.

STARTING A PRACTICE

For the medical novice, however, the precariousness is even worse. There exists a peculiar element called "confidence in a doctor," which serves as the basis of the physician-patient relationship, but which also acts as a hindrance to his rapid development of a clientele. It is almost as if no one person is ever willing, or daringly brave enough to offer himself as the original guinea pig, and to then go forth with a personal testimonial of his survival.

"Build a practice?" John gibbly told my worried parents. "Why that's easy: Mrs. A comes in and she's pleased with my services, so she recommends Mrs. B to me, who's also satisfied. Mrs. B refers Mrs. C, Mrs. C sends Mrs. D, and so forth until I need an assistant."

I smiled happily at this wonderful logic, but my mother said pointedly, from her full share of experience and knowledge and caution and fear: "But where is Mrs. A?"

Cunard To Launch Sixth Cargo Ship For U.K.-Canada Run

A new Cunard cargo ship for the Canada-United Kingdom service will be launched this month at Swan Hunter's Wallsend-on-Tyne yard on England's northeast coast.

To be named Assyria, the new ship is the sixth and last to be laid down in the postwar building program of Cunard Steamship Co. Ltd.

Her launching will bring the total of new tonnage built for Cunard since the war to 90,000. Assyria, which will make Montreal her Canadian terminal port during the St. Lawrence navigation season, is a sister-ship of the cargo liners Asia and Arabia, also built on the northeast coast of England.

Assyria will have a capacity for some 11,750 tons deadweight, including refrigerated cargo capacity of 129,000 cubic feet.

She has an overall length of 509 feet and a beam of 64 feet. Propelling machinery will comprise double reduction geared turbines of the latest design with oil-fired water-tube boilers.

Accommodation for officers and crews will be of high standard. Officers will live amidships in comfortably furnished single cabins and single cabins also will be provided for leading hands. Ratings will have two-berth cabins.

About $150 damage was done to a car driven by Kenneth R. Hindson, 1410 Pembroke Street, when in collision with one driven by Montague T. Powell, 1221 Richardson Street, at Belleville and Douglas Streets Sunday morning, city police reported. There was about $50 damage done to the Powell car.

Decision Shortly On Creston Power Rate

Members of the Public Utilities Commission today returned to Victoria from Creston where hearings were held last week on applications to increase electric power rates.

Dr. W. A. Carrothers, board chairman, said today that the board would likely make its decision shortly on the application of the West Kootenay Power and Light Co. Ltd. to increase rates.

The company, to supply the needs of the area, has had to install diesel plants to augment power supplies from hydro projects. It is seeking permission to pass on these added costs to the power users.

Young Liberals Ask For Works Projects To Give Employment

The Vancouver branch of the Young Liberal Association of B.C. notified Mayor Percy George today of its efforts to have the unemployment situation alleviated.

A copy of a telegram sent to Premier Byron Johnson was sent to the mayor asking that Dominion officials be urged to institute immediate public works projects in the province, either through the use of Dominion-planned projects on the shelf to the value of $138,000,000, or through the Municipal Improvements Assistance Act, 1938.

The Young Liberals suggested that the city advise the Premier of any projects in the city which would qualify for assistance under the act.

Report Due Tuesday On Financial State Of Oil Companies

A report on the financial position of B.C.'s major oil companies, ordered by the Coal and Petroleum Control Board in connection with applications to increase the price of gasoline, will be made to the board Tuesday, it was learned today.

The investigation of the oil companies' accounts, started several weeks ago, was undertaken by George A. Touche & Company, chartered accountants. At one time Dr. W. A. Carrothers, board chairman, had hoped that the report would be available by Christmas, but it was held up.

Major B.C. oil companies have filed applications with the board seeking permission to increase gasoline prices to compensate them for declining revenues resulting from price cuts of heavy fuel oils in the United States.

Already opposition to the proposed increase has been filed by the B.C. Automobile Association and representative B.C. coal producers.

After studying the report of the accounts of the oil companies, the Coal and Petroleum Control Board will decide whether or not public hearings will be held on the applications. It is considered likely at the present time that such hearings will be ordered.

Recent rapid extension of the B.C. Power Commission's enterprises will be outlined by D. C. Stephenson, engineer in charge of construction, at a luncheon meeting of the Real Estate Board Wednesday at the Empress Hotel.

Firemen of the Greater Victoria area have had a comparatively quiet time of it during the last 72 hours in comparison to the number of alarms responded to during the recent blizzard.

They attended house fires at 559 Kelvin Road, 3415 and 3218 Ruthven Avenue, 288 Hampton Road, 3411 Seymour Road, and a shack at the end of Darwin Road used by Swan Lake skaters.

U.S. Orders All Consular Officials To Leave China

WASHINGTON (AP)—In contempt of American protests, the Chinese Communists Saturday took over the United States consulate office in Peiping.

The State Department immediately ordered all its official personnel out of Red China. It is reported to have acted with President Truman's direct approval.

It blasted at the Communists' latest anti-American move as "a flagrant violation of our treaty rights and of the most elementary standards of international usage and conduct."

The State Department said Communists at Peiping, also seized property belonging to the French and the Dutch. The French property was described as the former barracks of the French Embassy and the Dutch property as the east compound of the old Netherlands embassy establishment.

Angry United States lawmakers denounced the invasion and seizure of American property in the strongest terms. Republicans redoubled their criticism of the administration's handling of Far Eastern affairs. Several said this latest insult should rule out all possibility of United States recognition of the Chinese Communist regime.
